BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's warning to business to reduce prices but keep wages up, or else, gave the business community and the Democratic party a fit of the jitters today.

The President's threat of government action to counteract wage reductions, impliedly a hint of resumption of vast pump priming expenditures involving further unbalancing of the budget, sent quotations on the stock market into a tailspin—the worst since last November.

Storm of Condemnation.

On Capitol Hill the President's utterance touched off a storm of condemnation of the Roosevelt logic and economics. Democrats joined with Republicans in taking issue with the President, most of them pointing out that industries lack the resources to keep wages up on a falling market because their resources have been depleted by the President's pet soak-the-rich tax, the undistributed profits levy. Whereas the aggregate industrial surplus was more than 25 billions at the time of the 1929 crash, it is less than 8 billions today and less than 2 billions is in cash.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] took as his text the President's dictum that "those who believe in the profit system must recognize that those who make the profits when business is good must bear the losses when business temporarily is slack."

Vandenberg Assails Policy.

"The President is perfectly right," said Senator Vandenberg, "and fortunately industry entered the depression which began with the crash in 1929 with sufficient reserves so that it could function to the total tune of nearly thirty billion dollars which it took out of its own hide, trying to keep things going along after its profits had disappeared.

"But their only reward from the White House was to be shot every morning at sunrise with a new barrage of invective and prejudice until ultimately these illogical hatreds culminated in the punitive surplus profits tax which made it physically impossible for business to do either what it had done in the old depression or what the President wants it to do in his new depression.

Senator Condemns Threat.

Another Republican senator, who would not permit himself to be quoted, asserted that "twenty years ago a President would have been impeached for such a threat to any group."

Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] led the chorus of Democratic criticism.

"The present tax on undistributed profits prohibits the accumulation of reserves to do the things which President Roosevelt wants business to do. Until that law is repealed there is no way in which reserves can be accumulated to maintain employment and wage levels during times of depression."

Senator Byrd recalled that when the undistributed profits tax was being considered in the senate finance committee he argued that it would result in the things about which President Roosevelt now complains. He recalled that Herman Oliphant, general counsel of the treasury department, said there would be "no more depressions if congress should enact the undistributed profits tax."

Byrd Recalls Argument.

Senator Byrd presented these same arguments at a White House conference called in the summer of 1936 in an effort to break the finance committee deadlock on the profits tax bill.

Representative John J. O'Connor [D., N. Y.] condemned the statement as false economics, asserting that

Cheater Tells at Wife's Murder Trial

KILLER'S MATE BLAMES SLAIN GIRL FOR AFFAIR

Testifies to Threats by Victim.

To save his wife from punishment for killing his youthful sweetheart, a middle aged husband with thinning hair told a jury yesterday that the dead girl's wooing led him unwillingly astray.

His story brought from the prosecutor this rebuke:

"That girl is not on trial for anything. She was murdered. She is dead and cannot answer."

Shot to Death in Bakery.

The girl to whose defense the prosecutor came was Miss Irene Kirstein, 26 years old, of 3530 Wolfram street. She was shot to death last Nov. 22 by Mrs. Ada Szczytowski in the bakery of Ada's husband, Rudolph, at 1352 North Paulina street.

The courtroom visitors had learned to know Rudy from other witnesses' stories of the romance as quite a romantic figure himself. But he was subdued and glum when he took the witness stand.

Irene, he said, had him under a spell so great that eventually he gave her the keys to his cash register and told her she was in charge of his business.

Romance Starts in Rain.

She came into his life, he testified, as an employé paid $5 a week. One night when it rained, his wife asked him to take Irene home and she cuddled beside him on the ride.

From that time on, Irene remained at the bakery long after quitting time. He raised her pay to $15. When Ada went to the hospital for an operation, the romance bloomed. He said he was afraid to go on.

But Irene, he testified under the questioning of his wife's attorney, Robert Romano, told him not to worry. In a timid voice Rudy said Irene comforted him with the promise:

"I'm going to get rid of your wife."

State Attacks Story.

While efforts to prove his story radically different from the one he told at the time of the shooting were made by the assistant state's attorneys, Julius Sherwin and Eugene Wachowski, Rudy accused the slain Irene of wrapping a brick as a gift and taking it to the hospital to annoy Ada.

The somberly dressed husband wept as he testified that he still loves his wife, the mother of his three children, and said that Irene pretended to like her, too, kissing Ada occasionally and assuring her that the romance was only a friendship.

Once when he and Irene discussed a divorce from Ada, he told the jury, Irene said:

"I know an easier way and we'll get some money besides."

His lip trembled beneath his little mustache when he said that Irene once protested:

Tells of Efforts to Escape.

The day before Ada shot Irene, he said, he tried in vain to break an engagement with his sweetheart. He was hoping then, he said, to end the romance and return to Ada.

It was Sherwin who shouted out in Judge Rudolph Desort's courtroom that Irene was dead and could not answer Rudy's accusations. Recalling the accordion Rudy gave Irene, he $300 in gifts he said he made her, and his remarks about the key to the cash register, Sherwin demanded:

'Isn't it a fact that you told police that Miss Kirstein's honesty and trustworthiness were never questioned?"

"I guess I did if the statement said so." Rudy faltered.

The prosecutor asked whether he hadn't told police that his relationships with Irene had been platonic. The witness answered that he couldn't remember.

Appears under New Law.

Rudy, slightly chubby for his romantic rôle, testified for his wife under a new state law that permits

Ministers to Sponsor Night Club for Youth

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Pastors of Milwaukee churches are going to open a night club. Members of the ministers' committee whose recent investigation of night clubs and taverns resulted in the enactment of the city's first tavern curfew ordinance, are the sponsors of the plan.

The old Golden Pheasant Night club on the Blue Mound road will be the place. If it succeeds, it will be followed by similar clubs, the Rev. Raymond E. Ewing, chairman of the investigating group, said today.

It Will Set an Example.

The ministers' night club will be dry. It is to set an example for Milwaukee's 2,400 taverns by closing at midnight. It is not going to permit slot machines, card playing, contract parties, bingo, or games of any kind that smacks of gambling, Dr. Ewing said.

It's bar will be a soda fountain. There will be music and chaperoned dancing. The ministers expect the club to appeal to boys and girls of upper high school ages and up to 21 years.

Under the compulsion of the ministers' committee, the city council which set a 2 o'clock closing hour, also raised the age from 19 to 21, at which patrons of taverns are permitted to buy beer. Boys and girls of the age now denied service in the taverns will be welcome at the reconstructed and reformed Golden Pheasant. The latter is an imposing structure, which in 1931 was padlocked by order of Federal Judge F. A. Geiger.

Convinced Liquor Unnecessary.

"We are not going to operate the club ourselves," Dr. Ewing said, "but have arranged with the owner of a Waukesha ice cream parlor of good repute to manage the club under our direction.

"We are convinced liquor is not necessary to attract youth to places of entertainment and that by providing an attractive atmosphere without the entertainers and floor shows. Tea will be served as in England in the late afternoon. An effort will be made to popularize the tea hour in place of the cocktail hour."

FIRE FIGHTERS' DIN OUTSIDE INTERRUPTS REIGN OF 'VICTORIA'

Hundreds of theatergoers looked on last night as firemen carried on a two hour fight against a stubborn fire that broke out in the Hoe-Sai-Gai restaurant at 81-85 West Randolph street. The blaze began in the kitchen and spread to the second and third floors of the four story building.

Smoke was blown into the Erlanger theater, where Helen Hayes is playing in "Victoria Regina." Many of the audience became alarmed and their leaving distracted the actress as she was in the midst of the third scene of the first act. Stepping out of character, she made a little speech.

"If you want this scene to go on," she said, "you must give us undivided attention. If you do not I will have the curtain lowered."

Applause followed. The scene was started over and the play was carried to its end, although the shouts of the firemen and the smoke continued to annoy the patrons. Fire Marshal Michael J. Corrigan said damage from the fire would not exceed $15,000.

A Baroness, but No Snob, Says Heiress

It was her democratic attitude toward the world, and more especially toward servants, which broke up the third marriage of Merry Fahrney Parker-Pickering Van Eiszner, who can call herself the Baroness Berlingieri if she wishes.

This attitude, it was learned yesterday, was expressed by the Oak Park patent medicine heiress in a deposition taken from her in Chicago a month ago by counsel for her third husband, the Baron Arturo Berlingieri of Italy.

Baron Arrives in Chicago.

The deposition was taken for use in the baron's suit, filed in Los Angeles last September, to annul the marriage. Merry has filed a divorce suit in the Circuit court here, and the baron arrived in Chicago yesterday for hearing on this action today before Judge John F. Prystalski.

Merry met her baron in Paris in the spring of 1937, and they were married in Harrison, N. Y., July 31.

Merry asserts that her marriage to the baron never was consummated. They lived in different hotels in New York, she said in the deposition, and met in Los Angeles last Aug. 7 after traveling there separately. She paid for their two bedroom suite in the Ambassador hotel there, and also paid all of the baron's expenses, Merry testified.

On Aug. 11 a waiter, summoned to their suite, spoke to her pleasantly, saying he was glad she was back in California. The baron objected to this familiarity, reminding her that she was a baroness, the heiress said.

Charges Blows, Bad Names.

"I said that was ridiculous; that it was foolish to use titles here," Merry told him, she declared, whereupon he struck her again and called her names in French and Italian, according to her deposition. On Aug. 15, her statement continues, the baron again reproved her for being too agreeable to servants, and hit her, knocking a hairpin into her head and telling her he would beat her as much as he wished.

The baron, as the basis of his annulment suit, uses Merry's own statement that she never lived with him. Merry charges cruelty in her divorce suit. She is represented by Attorney Frank E. Cantwell.

EX-KAISER IS 79 TODAY; ENGLISH BREACH HEALED

DOORN, the Netherlands, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany will observe his 79th birthday tomorrow happy in the belief there is a complete reconciliation between the royal houses of Windsor and Hohenzollern for the first time since the world war.

Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm, as he appeared in 1917.

A telegram from King George VI. of Great Britain, Queen Mother Mary, and Queen Elizabeth which was signed "Bertie, May, and Elizabeth," supplied the grounds for his belief.

Estrangement Believed Ended.

It has taken a number of years to efface the estrangement between the two houses, but the former kaiser believed that the message indicated that the breach had been healed.

The telegram conveyed felicitations upon the announcement Dec. 28 of the engagement of Wilhelm's favorite grandson, Prince Louis Ferdinand, and Princess Kira of Russia.

[During the world war, on July 17, 1917, it was announced that King George V. had abandoned all German titles for himself and family and a proclamation was issued changing the name of the British royal house from the house of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha to the house of Windsor. Nearly a month earlier it had been announced the king had decided that those princes of his family who were British subjects but had German titles should relinquish the latter in favor of British names.]

Members of House at Court.

Members of the Hohenzollern house have been received at the British court on several occasions since the war.

During the silver jubilee of the late George V. and Queen Mary former Crown Prince Wilhelm and his wife sent a message of congratulations which was answered the same day by "George and May."

Until December, however, there had been no sign of reconciliation with the former kaiser himself.

Princess Kira will be a newcomer to the customary birthday luncheon for the former kaiser tomorrow.

Gifts to Be Presented.

The observance of the anniversary will be along traditional lines. There will be divine services at 9 a. m., following which gifts will be presented to the former kaiser, and messages of congratulation will be read.

Wilhelm later will pray in the boudoir of his first wife, which has remained untouched since her death in 1921.

800 NEW PLANES WILL BE URGED BY PRESIDENT

Favors Trade Spur by Big Program.

Jews Promised Respite

GENEVA.—Rumania to moderate attitude toward Jews, foreign minister indicates at meeting of league of nations council; delay is expected on petition by Jewish congress. Page 2.

TOKIO.—Four bills providing for state management of the electric power industry attacked in Japanese parliament. Page 2.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt tonight began drafting the special message he will send to congress Friday morning calling for increases in the army and navy and their respective air corps. At least 800 new planes for land and sea forces will be included in the plans to build up the national defense.

The President had hoped to send the message, which he considers a supplement to the billion dollar national defense program contained in his regular budget message to congress on Jan. 5, to Capitol Hill tomorrow. He was unable to begin work on the message until tonight, however, and is not expected to complete it until tomorrow night.

Advocates Big Program.

Earlier in the day Prof. James Harvey Rogers of Yale university, former brain truster, who broke with the administration in a conflict over fiscal policies, advocated a tremendous armament program as the solution of a business recession. He spoke before the 13th Women's Conference on National Defense for an enduring America.

As the President began work on his message there were indications that he considers the strengthening of the army and navy as a possible means of increasing the nation's purchasing power. At his press conference yesterday in warning industry that wages cannot be cut to reduce prices he said that he will invoke the full power of the government to increase purchasing power should there be a cut in pay envelopes.

More Naval Construction.

Although the White House would make no announcement of details of the message it was understood that it will include:

For the navy:

An increase of 20 per cent or 237,240 tons over the 1,186,200 tons of fighting vessels the navy now is authorized to build under the Vinson-Trammell act, which provides for a treaty navy, although the treaties no longer exist. This does not mean that construction of all the extra tonnage would be begun in the coming fiscal year, but that the navy would be authorized, at the discretion of congress, to build 39 additional capital ships, aircraft carriers, cruisers, destroyers, and submarines.

A recommendation for the beginning of construction on destroyers and submarines up to the full allowance of the Vinson-Trammell act in the next fiscal year. This possibly will include a recommendation for an additional battleship, two aircraft carriers, and several cruisers.

Larger Naval Aircraft.

A 20 per cent increase in naval aircraft. This would provide for addition of 382 planes to the present navy goal of 1,210 planes by 1940.

A recommendation for 45 auxiliary naval ships, such as supply ships, oilers, and other vessels not limited by the treaties, and in which the navy is deficient.

For the army:

An increase of about 25 million dollars in the army budget estimate of 421 million dollars. Of this 12 million dollars will go for new planes, anti-aircraft units and mechanization and modernization of the army. The army plane goal of 2,320 planes would be raised to 2,784 planes.

Increase in the commissioned personnel from 12,777 officers to 14,659. Of the total 2,092 would be in the air corps. At present there are 1,421 commissioned flyers.

Would Build Up Reserve.

Authorization to build up the enlisted reserve. The army's goal is 280,000 reservists. There are at present less than 4,000 members of the enlisted reserve. The army also seeks to add 174 officers to the detail assigned to instruct citizens' training camps.

In urging the armament building program at the defense meeting Prof. Rogers offered a four point program to check with what he termed the trend to state capitalism. He advocated:

"[1] In order to enable business to take over the big load of spending recently dropped by the government, I should try to restore the incentive of business to expand.

"[2] I should try to give investors a greater incentive to buy and hold securities.

"[3] I should remove all unnecessary expensive and time consuming restrictions on the flotation of securities.

"[4] Temporarily I should resort again to government spending.

Proposes Armament Program.

"A public works program par excellent is a big armament program," he said. "In its prosecution not only would the greatest purchases be made from the heavy industries which are suffering most in the current slump, but also the resulting output would have the additional advantage of not competing with that of any private business.

"For the United States to enter immediately upon a vigorous and speedy re-armament program—including the building of additional facilities for airplanes and ships—would, in my opinion, do more than anything else to dispel the present situation and to restore the dominating influence in world affairs to the economically important and peace loving countries."

EASE ATTACKS ON JEWS

GENEVA, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Istrate Micescu of Rumania tonight indicated the anti-Jewish attitude of the government of Premier Octavian Goga would be less agressive.

This indication, which British and French spokesmen said was given to British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos, was said to have been one of the developments which put main problems before the league of nations council well on their way toward settlement.

Both spokesmen said Micescu's attitude indicated the matter of Rumania's treatment of Jews would not be given urgent attention before the council.

Jewish Congress Asks Action.

Eden and Delbos sought an agreement with Micescu on Rumanian Jews, a question the anti-Semitic Goga government does not want touched at present. The general council of the Jewish congress has petitioned the league council to deal with the question of the rights of Rumanian Jews under the minorities treaty.

Spokesmen said the French had reached an agreement in principle with Turkey over the first elections in the sanjak [state] of Alexandretta, which was granted autonomy last year. The agreement was said to have been reached with Tevfik Rustu Aras, Turkish foreign minister, by granting a change of procedure for the elections.

Delegates Divided on Sanctions.

On the question of the strength of the league Foreign Minister Joseph Beck of Poland was expected to join Eden and Delbos tomorrow in a statement of faith in the organization.

The interval between the private meetings today and the public meetings tomorrow gave Eden and Delbos time to match the Franco-British stand on sanctions [penalties] against the views of the anti-sanction states. Delegates were divided into two camps on whether to keep sanctions provisions in the league covenant.

6,000 ITALIANS DIE IN CAMPAIGN TO SUBDUE ETHIOPIA

LONDON, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The Ethiopian legation in a statement today asserted 5,993 Italian and Eritrean Askari soldiers and sixteen officers were killed in battles the last two months in north and northwest Ethiopia. The Ethiopian losses were as heavy.

The legation, which represents the vanquished government of the exiled Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, declared Ethiopian resistance to Italian forces was continuing.

It added that three battalions of Eritrean troops deserted their Italian command and that forty-three trucks, a considerable amount of machine guns, rifles, field artillery and ammunition were captured by Ethiopian natives. The legation said that because of the massacre of eighteen Italian officers by natives in Debra Markos, Gojam province, thirty to forty Italian planes from Addis Ababa were conducting daily reprisals in Gojam.

FRANCE TO URGE OVERTHROW OF 1936 NAVY LIMITS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 26.--The navy committee of the chamber of deputies met this afternoon and took further steps to enter France in the world-wide naval building race. It is believed the government will notify London next week of France's desire to liberate herself from the tonnage limitations of the 1936 naval treaty.

Justification for this move is the recent announcement that Italy is laying down two 35,000 ton warships. France does not prefer huge dreadnaughts for the Mediterranean, but decided she must go Italy one better and probably will build two ships of 42,000 tons.

Jean Michel Renaitour, chairman, told the navy committee the government was concerned over the Siamese naval building program "which threatened to make the naval situation in French Indo-China precarious." Some of Siam's new warships are being built in Japanese shipyards.

BRITISH SKIPPER AMONG 125 KILLED IN VALENCIA RAID

MADRID, Jan. 26.—(AP)—A government communique said tonight 125 persons were killed and 208 injured this afternoon when six rebel warplanes raided Valencia. The dead included the master of the British merchant ship Dover Abbey.

After bombing the harbor the planes continued over the center of the city and discharged the remainder of their bombs in the crowded streets. Several buildings were destroyed.

Heavy fighting was reported today in the rugged terrain north of Teruel in eastern Spain. The government said its infantry, supported by armored cars, tanks, and artillery, gained new positions on the Saragossa highway running north of Teruel.

FIGHT JAP BILLS TO NATIONALIZE ELECTRIC POWER

Efficiency Will Be Lower, Foes Warn.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 26.—The government's efforts to place the electric power industry—in which a large amount of American capital is invested—under state control was attacked and defended in the diet in a five hour debate today.

Speakers in the lower house, expressing skepticism over the efficiency of government managed enterprises, charged that the right of private property was being violated.

The debate started when the government introduced four bills providing for state management of the electric power industry.

Essential to Livelihood.

Defending the measure, Ryutaro Nagai, communications minister, pointed out that electricity for lighting and heating are essential to livelihood.

"Its importance to national defense and as motive power for industries is increasing," he said. "A plentiful supply will augment production especially in farming and fishing villages and encourage subsidiary industries, thus contributing to stabilization of the living conditions of the people. Because the industry is left in the hands of profit making companies, there is lack of control and coördination. Thus it becomes necessary to place enterprises under national control in order to meet requirements both of war and peace."

He gave assurance that threefold guarantees would be given for the payment of principal and interest on foreign securities.

Shoichi Mikayo of the Social Mass party shouted:

Foresees Scarcity of Power.

Ryuhei Uchida of the Minseito [majority] party attacked the measure. He said the efficacy of special companies under government management is doubtful and warned that if the bills are passed there is likely to be a scarcity of electric power in the very midst of a war emergency.

Kikuo Kiyose, leader of the Seiyukai [second largest] party, asked whether the premier thinks that despite the emergency the government should risk internal friction by bringing up such a controversial issue.

He charged that the enforcement of such laws would hurt the solemn conception of the people regarding the right of private property and shrivel up enterprising spirit.

Has the government, he asked, obtained the consent of the creditors regarding the disposal of foreign loans and has it any intention of seeking such consent?

The communications minister said that in the disposal of foreign securities the consent of the creditors will be obtained.

Chinese Air Force Active.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Jan. 26.—Chinese bombing planes were active in two areas today. A dozen planes raided Japanese held Nanking this morning and destroyed 12 to 20 Japanese planes on the ground, it was reported. A gasoline depot was set afire.

The Chinese admitted that one of their own bombers was damaged by anti-aircraft fire and landed at Anking, capital of Anhwei province, but Japanese asserted their own pursuit ships shot down two other Chinese bombers.

The international committee for the Nanking safety zone said today 250,000 Chinese refugees in Nanking were facing famine conditions because efforts to bring in food were being blocked by the Japanese. At present there are only two foreign doctors in Nanking and Japanese authorities have refused to permit others to go there.

Ice Perils Bridge

The worst ice jam in 30 years yesterday damaged the famous international bridge (nearest falls), causing beams to buckle.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Jan. 26.—(AP)—A shift in wind tonight appeared to have saved Niagara's towering steel arch bridge from immediate danger of destruction.

Relentless pounding on the already ice packed gorge from huge floes tumbling over the falls has slackened because a shift in wind has stopped blowing Lake Erie ice into Niagara river.

The 1,200 foot steel span from which thousands of honeymooners have viewed the falls still groaned under the terrific ice pressure, but appeared in no immediate danger of falling. Several steel frames buckled today and the bridge had a pronounced downstream bulge.

Below the bridge the famous twin steamboats, the Maids of the Mist, known to tourists the world over, lay in the grip of the ice, tossed from their winter drydocks by the moving ice mountains. One of the boats was damaged seriously.

Dynamite Ice Jam.

Dover, N. J., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Dynamiters broke an ice jam that flooded the town tonight. They also blew out plate glass windows in fifty stores and dozens of homes. Police headquarters, which already had all its men out on flood work, was deluged with demands for guards for stores with shattered windows.

Mayor John Roach had called out all the town's 120 volunteer firemen when Rolling Mill pond, fed by the Rockaway river, overflowed, inundating several blocks of the business district with six inches of water. Some one threw a sack of dynamite with a time fuse into the pond and the blast broke the ice jam at the dam where the river enters. The water began to recede. Soon all hands were pressed into guard duty.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Phyllis Welch, who came to Hollywood from New York heralded as the actress most likely to become a star in 1938, ended her first month of enforced spinsterhood today with little imminent likelihood of wedding bells.

Miss Welch, who is making her screen debut with Harold Lloyd in his current "Professor Beware," last month posted a $5,000 bond with Lloyd guaranteeing that she would not marry or become engaged for six months.

BOOK DESCRIBING EDWARD'S LOVE THRILLS LONDON

Europe Beauties Spurned for Wally.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 27 [Thursday].—London society is discussing eagerly the memoirs of Prince Christopher of Greece, published here today, which contain numerous glimpses of royal family life more interesting than discreet. The prince, the youngest son of King George I. of Greece, who was assassinated in 1913, is an uncle of the duchess of Kent, formerly Princess Marina of Greece.

He described meeting Mrs. Wallis Simpson, now the duchess of Windsor, at a reception in Buckingham palace in London on the eve of Marina's wedding to Prince George of Great Britain, now the duke of Kent.

[The duke and duchess of Kent were married Nov. 29, 1934. It was two years later—almost to the day—before the British press and officials recognized publicly Edward's association with Mrs. Simpson. On Dec. 1, 1936, a bishop's plea that Edward be more pious loosed the flood of publicity and official acts which resulted in Edward's abdication Dec. 11 to marry Mrs. Simpson.]

Beauties of Europe Spurned.

Prince Christopher told how the duke of Windsor, then the prince of Wales, scarcely left Mrs. Simpson's side all evening during the reception, although some of the most beautiful women in Europe were striving to attract his attention.

"He appeared never even to notice them," Christopher wrote. "He was in love as it is given to men and women to love only once in a lifetime."

Edward himself introduced Prince Christopher and Mrs. Simpson. Cleaving through representatives of every royal house in Europe who were hobnobbing in the salon, he seized Christopher's arm and said: "Christo, come with me. I want you to meet Mrs. Simpson," the book says.

"Mrs. Simpson? Who is she?" Christopher asked.

"She's Wonderful," Says Wales.

"An American . . . she's wonderful," answered Edward.

"The two words told me everything," Christopher wrote. "It was as though he had said: 'She is the only woman in the world.'"

Edward and Mrs. Simpson met casually at a London party, Christopher wrote. "He knew hundreds of women more beautiful, many more suited to the position of his wife, but these considerations had no weight with him," the memoirs said. "She was to him simply the woman he loved . . . it had to be everything or nothing."

Marina Not Always a Stickler.

Christopher also described the romance of the duke and duchess of Kent and revealed that Marina, who is understood to be one of the chief opponents to giving the duchess of Windsor royal status, has not always been such a stickler for royal etiquet.

He revealed that Marina, when 11 years of age, shocked her elders at a family conference on the breaking of her sister Olga's engagement to Crown Prince Frederick of Denmark by demanding: "Why the hell should Olga marry him if she doesn't love him? I wouldn't."

HUNT WHITE SLAVE RING ON CHARGES OF YOUNG MONTANA GIRL

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Northern California police sought today to smash what they believed to be a widespread white slave ring following disclosures by Jeanne Walters, 19 years old, of Great Falls, Mont., who told Inspector Edward Handley that she was forced to work in disorderly houses at Reno, Nev., Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Pismo Beach, Cal., and smaller towns.

Jean Moore, 28 years old, and William Coburn, 30 years old, are held on open charges. Coburn admitted previous arrests on white slave and narcotics complaints.

STUDENT ACTOR IS FATALLY SHOT AT A REHERSAL

Pistol Believed Unloaded Death Weapon.

Blencoe, Ia., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—The star of a thrilling home talent play, for which Blencoe High school students and townsfolk have been preparing for weeks, lay dead today, a victim of too much realism in rehersing a western drama.

Edward Marley, 17 years old, was the hero in a play entitled "Under Western Skies," which was to have been presented as a community production tomorrow night. His friend, Elmo Jones, 18 years old, played the part of a desperado.

Borrows Farmer's Pistol.

The scrip called for Jones, the gunman, to shoot Marley. Fearful of firearms, Miss Louise Shaw, high school teacher who was directing the play, asked Jones to play the rôle with a toy pistol.

But Jones thought it would look more realistic if he used a gun capable of being shot. On Monday he borowed a .32 caliber automatic pistol from Harold Mobley, a farmer.

The cast assembled in the Blencoe High school Tuesday night for the final rehersal except for the dress parade. Every one concerned was satisfied the weapon was not loaded.

Sinks, Wounded, to Floor.

Eventually the amateur actors reached the part where the desperado shot the hero. In mock seriousness, Jones drew the automatic and pressed the trigger. There was a loud report, and Marley sank to the floor, shot in the abdomen.

The wounded youth at first believed he was not seriously hurt and wanted to continue the rehersal. But he died in a hospital last night.

Marley graduated with honors from Columbia academy at Prairie du Chien, Wis., last June. Surviving him are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Marley, who liv- near here, and five sisters and three brothers.

RED MILITARY COURT MAY TRY NEW YORK WOMAN FOR ESPIONAGE

New York, Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ruth Marie Rubens, held in a soviet prison while a charge of espionage against her is being investigated, will have to stand trial before the military collegium of the Supreme court of the U. S. S. R., if she is accused formally, the state department said in a letter received here today.

The letter was addressed to Walter S. Throops, attorney for Mrs. Rubens' family. He was engaged to give what aid he could when it was learned Mrs. Rubens was being held under the name of Mrs. Ruth Norma Robinson.

The collegium is the highest military tribunal in the soviet union. It condemned several generals to death recently.

HIS MIND BLANK WHEN HE SLEW, WRIGHT DEFENSE

Attorney Blames Mental Shock for Shooting.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Attorney Jerry Giesler today told a jury trying Paul A. Wright for killing his wife and his friend, John Kimmel, that the defense would be based on the "written law," relating to persons who commit an act without being conscious thereof. This was a slap at the prosecution's persistent appeals to the jury against an "unwritten law" defense.

Giesler said Wright would take the stand to describe a horrifying and terrible situation in which he found Kimmel and Mrs. Wright. He said the defense would show Wright suffered an emotional and mental shock and that he had no knowledge of what he did in the few minutes thereafter.

Disputes Premeditation.

The attorney said he expected to show through witnesses that Wright was a kind and loving father and husband, and that the domestic life of Wright and his wife, Evelyn, offered no reason for premeditated murder.

Returning to the situation which he said Wright found the night of the slaying in his Glendale home, Giesler declared:

"When he saw this horrible thing he was rendered unconscious. He was rendered as unconscious as though he had been hit on the head by a mallet. He did not have the slightest idea of what he did.

"The next thing that this defendant remembered was when he was standing there over the bodies with the pistol in his hand.

Explains Story to Police.

"When Wright gave his statement at the Glendale police station several hours later, the evidence will show, he was trying to piece together the pieces of what did occur. We expect to show that the nature of the facts he gave there as compared with the physical facts are absurd."

Giesler said some of the vague statements Wright made were caused by his desire to keep the record clean for the sake of Mrs. Wright and their little daughter, Helen.

An airport publicity man, Art La Vove, testified yesterday Wright told him he shot his wife and Kimmel, when he found them in an embrace under unusual circumstances on a piano bench, when he awoke from a nap.

Seeks to Enter Depositions.

After his speech, Giesler attempted to place in the record four depositions and several exhibits bearing on Wright's life for several years back. He contended these would show a background accounting for Wright's susceptibility to the shock he received the night of the slayings.

The prosecution strenuously objected. After a long argument, Superior Judge Ingall Bull said he would rule on the matter morrow.

The depositions are those of three physicians and Lylli Halberinen, a housemaid the Wrights had when they lived in Chicago.

The medical statements relate to the sterilization operation Wright underwent in Chicago so his wife would not be endangered by another childbirth, to his confinement in a tuberculosis hospital as the result of world war service, and to his wife's condition making necessary his sterilization operation.

Asks More Support

Mrs. Mary Moll with daughter, Jeanette, age 3.

Mrs. Mary Moll, 834 East 51st street, yesterday asked Judge John J. Lupe to increase to $7 a week the $3 her ex-husband, Joseph, pays for support of their daughter, Jeanette, 3 years old. When Mrs. Moll agreed to let her husband get a divorce a year ago, her attorney, Sinon A. Murray, said he agreed to pay $7 a week for their daughter, but that the decree provided only $3. Since losing her job, Murray said, Mrs. Moll has been unable to support the child.

HAND GRENADES EXPLODE NEAR PARIS; 14 SLAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 26.—Two truckloads of confiscated hand grenades exploded this morning in Villejuif, a suburb south of Paris, killing fourteen men and injuring ten. Andre Kling, director of the Municipal Pyrotechnic laboratory which was destroyed by the resultant fire, blamed the blast on "clumsiness." Police said one of nine cases—each loaded with 3,000 grenades—fell to the ground when all were being loaded on army trucks to be taken to the Versailles military park.

Five soldiers, three civilian laborers, three chemists, two police inspectors, and one police chauffeur were killed.

The grenades were seized recently in raids on the CSAR, a revolutionary organization known popularly as Les Cagoulards [the hooded ones] and charged with planning to overthrow the republic, set up a dictatorship and reëstablish a monarchy.

BLIND AND 104, REMOVED FROM PENSION ROLLS

Marion, Ill., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Michael Farrell, secretary of old age assistance in Williamson county, said today he was asking the state division to reopen the case of Mrs. Mary Mattingly, 104 years old and blind, who is receiving neither the old age pension nor the blind pension because of an official mixup.

Farrell said Mrs. Mattingly received the blind pension for about twenty years, but began receiving the old age pension instead in October, 1936.

Recently, Farrell asserted, he was instructed to remove from the rolls all those eligible to receive the blind pension. Mrs. Mattingly was removed from the old age pension list a few days ago. She appealed to the county board of commisioners for the blind pension, but her claim was denied yesterday.

WINTER TAKES ANOTHER CRACK AT CHICAGOLAND

City Escapes Zero Once, but Faces It Again.

Chicagoans rubbed frostbitten ears yesterday, thawed frozen automobile radiators, and said it certainly was cold, but rejoiced that Lake Michigan and atmospheric conditions had kept the temperature eleven degrees above the zero level predicted. Forecaster J. R. Lloyd said the mercury might fall to zero in the suburbs and 4 above in the city this morning. The day will be cold, with 16 above the expected maximum.

Meanwhile much of the northwest shivered in sub-zero temperatures, and northeastern Wisconsin and northern Michigan dug out after Tuesday's blizzard. Only the far west and New England escaped freezing temperatures. There was snow at Ocala in north central Florida.

100 Homes Damaged.

Flooded Nippersink creek caused $50,000 damage to 100 homes north and northwest of Fox Lake. James Lynch of the state department of conservation was preparing to dynamite an ice jam when the jam broke, letting the water recede.

Fox Lake firemen, coöperating with Thomas A. Kennedy, chief deputy sherif of Lake county, rescued two marooned families in rowboats.

Flood waters of Rock river receded further at Rockford, where the last of 200 families that had fled their homes were returning. Red Cross officials there began a drive for $2,000 for relief work.

Rowboat crews took a number of families from their homes near Prophetstown, Ill. State officials prepared to chlorinate the water supply at Prophetstown if the water flowed over the wells.

Towns Without Electricity.

The towns of Morrison, Lyndon, Fulton and Erie were still without electric current after an ice gorge changed the course of Rock river, which then washed out a mile of power lines near Lyndon and plunged the district into darkness Tuesday evening.

Conditions in the upper peninsula of Michigan were the worst in forty years after the blizzard of Monday and Tuesday. With snowdrifts reaching to house tops, Gov. Frank Murphy ordered welfare authorities to speed relief without regard for red tape.

Several passenger trains were still stalled in Michigan and Wisconsin, and bus schedules were suspended. Scores of communities were isolated in the two states.

POLICE CAPTAIN TO BE ARRESTED FOR BOMB PLOT

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Arrest of Police Detective Captain Earle Kynette for the bombing of Harry Raymond, private investigator, was ordered today. Kynette's attorney, John Oliver, said the officer would surrender when the complaint is filed and a warant issued.

District Attorney Buron Fitts said he believed he had definite evidence linking Kynette with the bombing and would ask $50,000 bond.

Raymond was critically injured Jan. 14 when a bomb, attached to his automobile engine, exploded when he stepped on the starter. He was engaged by a politico-civic group to investigate alleged corruption in the city government.

AN ACTRESS PLUCKS A BEAD FROM DRESS AND PICKETING ENDS

New York, Jan. 26.—[Special.]—A bead, one of three that adorned the scanty costume of Annette Margules in "White Cargo," now playing at Werba's theater, Brooklyn, has been removed, and thus was ended a labor war.

Annette Margules.

Not only was the costume non-union made, the Theatrical Costumers' Labor union local charged, but when the bead came off a few nights ago a non-union seamstress was called to sew it back on. In the ensuing controversy the theater was picketed for two nights.

Peace was restored by Miss Margules' appearance with only two beads, and by the theater's assurance that only union labor would be called in future emergencies.

NEIGHBOR TURNS FAMILY AFFAIR INTO A BRAWL

After Judge John J. Lupe yesterday reduced the temporary alimony Henry Dorosz, a steel worker, is paying his wife, Jozefa, from $10 to $8 a week Dorosz, his attorney, Alfred O'Connor, and witnesses adjourned to an anteroom to draft the order. Then the fun began.

Dorosz objected when Mrs. Helen Pryzborski, 10740 Mackinaw avenue, a pro-Jozefa witness, criticized his daughter, Josephine. Mrs. Pryzborski started after Dorosz, and presently four chairs were overturned, the heavy table upended, and two unidentified women sent sprawling out the door into the court.

Judge Lupe thereupon delivered a lecture on neighbors who interfere in divorce cases. He fined Mrs. Pryzborski $100 for contempt of court, but suspended the fine in favor of an order banning her forever from divorce courts. Dorosz lives at 8527 Buffalo avenue.

MEMPHIS DEAN GAINS 6 POUNDS ON LIQUID DIET

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 26.—(AP)—A physician today said the Rev. Israel H. Noe was "much improved" and had gained almost six pounds since yesterday.

Attendants said a supply of raw cashew nuts had been ordered for the former dean of St. Mary's Episcopal cathedral, whose 22 day fast was broken involuntarily last Sunday night.

The doctor said the churchman's weight was 112 pounds and that he had taken slightly more than five quarts of fluids in the last 24 hours.

COURT BLAMES A SON'S WOES ON TYRANT FATHER

Suspends Theft Sentence and Orders Reform.

A. D. C. Drummond, an elderly postal clerk, yesterday heard Federal Judge John P. Barnes term him a tyrannical, nagging despot, largely responsible for his son's pilfering.

The son, William, 20 years old, was before the court on a charge of embezzling $75.79 from the Jefferson postoffice, where he worked as a relief clerk. William, said Judge Barnes, would not have been in trouble had life been happier in the Drummond home at 7005 Osceola avenue.

Suspends Prison Sentence.

The court then sentenced young Drummond to three years in the penitentiary, but suspended the sentence and placed him on probation on these terms:

The elder Drummond must change his ways. He and his wife, Anna, must cease buying unnecessary items on the installment plan, often with their children's money, and must place the family budget on a sound, frugal basis.

William is to get a job as soon as he can. He is to pay his parents only a reasonable sum for board and lodging; the rest is to go into a postal savings account.

Family Income Revealed.

Judge Barnes acted upon the recommendation of Assistant United States Attorney John J. Moreschi, after Drummond pleaded guilty. Moreschi read from a social service report.

It revealed that the father earns about $200 a month. His son formerly made from $120 to $145 a month, and a daughter $60 a month. Thus the family income was approximately $400 a month.

The report said Drummond made his children give him all of their earnings, returning only $10 or $15 a month to his son and daughter. It added that Drummond did all the purchasing for the family, and concluded that he was tyrannical and emotionally unstable, being given to severe tantrums and nagging.

"It's up to you and your son," Judge Barnes told Drummond. "If you don't mend your ways and become a good father the probation will be set aside and the boy will go to jail."

GERMAN CATHOLICS UNABLE TO ATTEND HUNGARIAN CONGRESS

BUDAPEST, Jan. 26.—(AP)—German Roman Catholics, it was disclosed officially today, will not attend the 34th Eucharistic congress here next May. Hungary is predominantly Catholic and some resentment was felt here. Twenty-five thousand Germans had been expected to attend. Some political circles declared echoes might be felt in Germany-Hungarian relations.

A Difficulty of Foreign Exchange.

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The travel bureau handling arrangements for Germans planning to attend the Budapest Eucharistic congress said today the pilgrims were finding difficulty obtaining foreign exchange. The German government has imposed strict limitations on money taken out by Germans traveling abroad.

THIRD OF TRUST CASES WIND UP IN COMPROMISE

Cummings' Aid Criticized for U. S. Methods.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Approximately one-third of the important anti-trust cases prosecuted by the department of justice under the Roosevelt administration have been settled by consent decrees, it was disclosed today.

These figures assumed significance in the light of Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson's statement yesterday to the house judiciary committee that a consent decree is scarcely ever arranged except when a federal grand jury is considering the facts in the case.

A consent decree is one drawn up in a federal civil court by stipulation of both parties. Jackson admitted that the defendants probably would never agree to such a decree if they were not in fear of federal prosecution in the criminal branch.

Jackson Under Fire.

Jackson was under fire before the committee because of the use of grand juries in this manner. He appeared to complain about the judicial conduct of Federal Judge Ferdinand A. Geiger of Milwaukee, who dismissed a grand jury when he learned that government attorneys were negotiating for a consent decree. Jackson soon found himself being criticized for the practices which had caused Judge Geiger to discharge the jury.

Jackson stoutly defended the tactics of the justice department. He denied that it was a form of the third degree to point out to prospective defendants the possibility that the grand jury might return indictments if a consent decree were not agreed to. He said the attorney general was helpless to get evidence except by use of the grand jury. It is not legally unethical to use the evidence gathered in this manner to force a decree in the civil branch, he insisted.

Ponder Future Course.

The judiciary committee today was studying the evidence presented yesterday with a view to deciding upon its future course of action. The case originally began with a complaining letter from Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, which was interpreted as a petition that impeachment proceedings be started against Judge Geiger. He said Judge Geiger had obstructed justice. Jackson yesterday conceded, however, that there was no impeachable action in the Geiger case, although he asserted the dismissal of the jury was an abuse of judicial discretion.

Since March, 1933, when President Roosevelt took office, the attorney general's office has started anti-trust actions in thirty-nine important cases. Of these 16 are still pending. Of the 23 cases disposed of consent decrees were entered in 7. Twelve cases were won and four lost.

Consent Decree Cases.

National Retail Credit association, practices to monopolize retail credit reporting through boycotting and territory-division. Consent decree.

Kansas City Ice company, monopolizing and restraining commerce in ice. Consent decree; enjoined practices and required dissolution of Kansas City company, a holding company; supplemental consent decree for other defendants; case dismissed as to two.

Columbia Gas and Electric corporation, restraining trade in natural gas; also charged that Columbia G. & E. and the Columbia Oil and Gasoline corporation violated Clayton act in acquiring stocks and bonds of Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company. Consent decree, predicated on Columbia interests divesting themselves of Panhandle holdings.

Textile Refinishers Association, Inc., restraining trade in cloth by price fixing and business allocating. Consent decree pursuant to stipulation.

Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., restraining trade in motion pictures for use in three St. Louis theaters. Government withdrew petition without prejudice to filing of a new one. Reopening of suit resulted in decree entered pursuant to stipulation between the parties.

Cases Won by Government.

The twelve cases won by the government, without recourse to the consent decree method, were as follows:

Standard Oil Company of Indiana, combination and conspiracy in restraint of trade in gasoline by artificially fixing tank car prices for gasoline made in the midcontinent and east Texas fields and distributed mainly in ten midwestern states, by concerted buying pools. To remove technical difficulties a new indictment was returned Dec. 22, 1936. Defendants found guilty, but sentence deferred pending appeal.

Union Pacific Produce company, restraining and monopolizing trade in artichokes by intimidation. Firm fined $1,000; two defendants given six months' prison sentences.

The Nevada Northern Railway company, conspiracy to prevent, by boycotting and intimidation, shipments by common carrier other than the company. Nolo contendere pleas entered; $557 fines imposed.

Fish Credit Association, Inc., conspiracy to monopolize and restrain trade in fresh water fish by price fixing, boycotting, intimidation. All except six defendants pleaded guilty; rest found guilty; 58 fined $48,387; jail sentences of six months to two years imposed on all [all except three suspended].

Judgment Affirmed.

Joseph Weiner, contempt of court by violating 1932 decree. Five acquitted; five sentenced to three months to three years; on appeal by four, judgment affirmed.

Lockwood and Winant, conspiracy in restraint of trade in salt water fish by fixing prices and consignment terms. Fines totalling $12,000 imposed.

William G. Mather, holding interlocking directorships in competing steel companies. After resignations, petition dismissed on government's motion.

Guy H. Hulse, contempt of court in violating National Retail Credit association decree. Pleaded guilty; fines totaling $4,000 imposed on 10; case dismissed as to rest.

United States vs. Protective Fur Dressers corporation, restraining and monopolizing trade in rabbit skins. On Sept. 28, 1934, and Oct. 16, 1936, 13 defendants pleaded guilty; sentence deferred; on Nov. 12, 1936, following trial, two additional were sentenced to two years and $10,000 fines each; these two defendants appealed and judgment of conviction affirmed as to one, reversed as to the other.

Guilty Pleas Entered.

United States vs. Fur Dressers Factor corporation, restraining and monopolizing commerce in fur skins. On Dec. 16, 1937, jury returned verdict of guilty on all four counts against nine defendants and acquitted two; all of the defendants named in the indictment except two, who are fugitives, pleaded guilty; sentence deferred.

Interstate Circuit, Inc. Petitions alleged that contracts requiring minimum admission charge for second and subsequent run pictures, and prohibiting use of them as part of double feature programs, constitute unreasonable restraint of trade; decided in favor of government.

Arthur Gramlich, restraining trade in coal by bombing railroads carrying coal from mines not employing members of Progressive Miners of America. Defendants also accused of violating anti-racketeering act and obstruction to the mail act. On Dec. 18, 1937, jury returned verdict of guilty as to 36 of the 41 original defendants; each sentenced Dec. 28, 1937, to four years in prison and $20,000 fine.

Cases Lost by Government.

The four cases the government lost were against the following: Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc.; Frank P. McGlone; Emanuel Romm and Frank P. McGlone, and the Republic Steel corporation.

The sixteen cases pending in the courts are against the following defendants: Market Truckmen's association; Local No. 202 of International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen, and Helpers of America; Needle Trade Workers' Industrial union; United Sea Food Workers' union; Dress Creators' League of America, Inc.; Party Dress Guild, Inc.; the Half-size Dress Guild, Inc.; American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers; Music Publishers' Protective association; Music Dealers' Service, Inc.; Frank P. McGlone, Patrick Haney, John Seal, and Anthony Gambania; Socony-Vacuum Oil Company, Inc., Ethyl Gasoline corporation; Earle C. Webb and John Coard Taylor; Aluminum Company of America; Dairymen's Association, Ltd. [Hawaii]; Western Union Telegraph company, and Postal Telegraph company.

Killed in Air Crash

Emile Chourre. Michael J. Ola.

Belleville, Ill., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—A widely known navy officer and an aviation cadet were killed today when their plane struck the top of a 250 foot mooring mast while circling for a landing at the army's flying field here.

The flyers were Lieutenant Commander Emile Chourre, 43 years old, an official of the national air races from 1928 through 1936, and Cadet Michael J. Ola, 25 years old. They were en route from Wright field, Dayton, O., to San Diego, Cal.

With Chourre at the controls, their two seater scouting plane dropped down from the skies and prepared to land at Scott field. As it circled to line up with the runway, the plane swept into the mast which was erected when the field was a base for army balloons.

A wing of the plane was sheared off. The ship plunged to earth and was demolished. Both men were dead when soldiers reached the scene. The wreckage did not burn.

Leaders of Both Parties Assail Action.

Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.] said he is willing to concede that the President's demand that prices be lowered but wages maintained deals with one factor of the recovery problem. But the most important factor, he said, is the "fear psychology" which is retarding the investment of private capital.

"No one wants to cut wages," snorted Representative Bertrand H. Snell of New York, Republican leader of the house. "Since the administration has forced the average business man to pay out all his profits he hasn't any money on hand with which to build up stocks. Now, from a practical point of view, if the President knows how to do it I wish he'd tell us."

Termed Politician's Order.

Representative Charles A. Eaton [R., N. J.] thought the Roosevelt move preposterous.

Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper announced that the 500 small business men who wish to discuss recovery policies with the President will be received on Feb. 2.

The White House tonight announced that in addition to meeting with representatives of small business who will gather here to discuss means of combating the depression, Mr. Roosevelt will confer with leaders of the United Automobile Workers of America, a C. I. O. affiliate, to discuss the economics of the motor industry.

Those who will meet with the President are Homer Martin, president of the union; Richard Frankensteen, its vice president, and William Munger, its research director. The conference, the White House said, was asked by Martin.

Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.] conferred with the President regarding his bill for federal licensing of industry engaged in interstate commerce.

JAS. ROOSEVELT CALLED TO DUTY IN MARINE CORPS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—James Roosevelt, son and secretary of the President, who has been a lieutenant-colonel in the marine corps since shortly before he accompanied his father to South America in December of 1936, will get his first active duty with his corps in February.

It was announced by the White House today that James had been ordered to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, on Feb. 28, to participate in the joint war maneuvers of the army, navy and marine corps. More than 4,000 men will participate in the maneuvers, which will last six weeks. James will return to the capital March 14.

Beats Wife with Hammer, Then Ends His Own Life

After beating his wife on the head with a hammer, Timothy McCarthy, 50 years old, ended his life by cutting his throat with a razor in their second floor flat at 3228 Congress street yesterday. His wife, Theresa McCarthy, 55 years old, who crawled to a first floor flat to summon the Fillmore street police, was given an even chance to recover at the County hospital last night. Brooding over unemployment is believed to have caused McCarthy's act.

REPORT CARDOZO PLANS TO LEAVE SUPREME COURT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—(AP)—A usually well informed authority said today Justice Cardozo had notified President Roosevelt informally of an intention to retire from the Supreme court, but that the chief executive had urged him to remain.

The justice, before he became seriously ill, was reported to have sent word to the President through friends that he believed his health would not permit him to serve longer.

Mr. Roosevelt was described as having proposed that Cardozo withhold action until he recovers and then determine whether he feels in shape to continue.

There has been talk among his friends in congress of passing a special act to give him full retirement benefits. The New Yorker has served only since 1932 and so would not be eligible for retirement pay.

Wisconsin Bags a Chicago Hunter with Wrong License

Frank Hutchins, operator of the Villa Moderne, a night club on Skokie boulevard, was fined $500 and $54 costs yesterday at Elkhorn, Wis., for obtaining a Wisconsin resident hunting license and deer tag under false pretenses. Hutchins, it was testified, obtained the license and tag at Elkhorn last November.

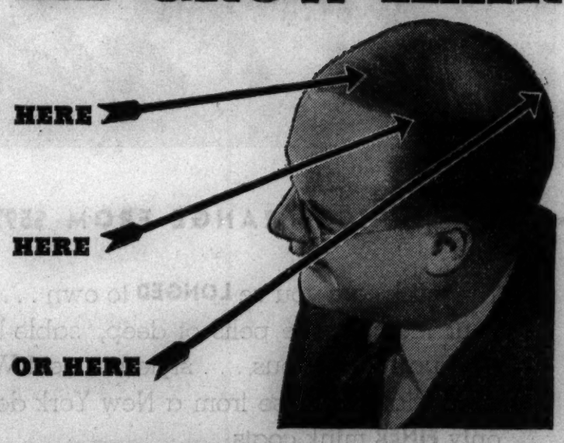
RE-GROW HAIR



● ● ● Science has found that the hair-growing structure (papilla) remains alive and ready to respond to proper stimulative treatment even long after hair has disappeared from the scalp.

Thomas has perfected a method of stimulating this dormant hair-growing structure to normal activity. First, Thomas treatment removes the causes of inactivity (usually one or more of 14 local scalp disorders) and then skillfully supplies the necessary stimulation and thus makes it possible for the hair to gain sufficient strength to push through the follicle and become visible again on the scalp.

Come in person to the nearest Thomas office TODAY and learn more about this precise, reliable method of growing hair, stopping hair-fall, and ending dandruff. No charge will be made for consultation or scalp examination. You will not be accepted for treatment unless your case comes within the scope of Thomas methods.

HUNT FOR OWNER OF FLATS AFTER ALCOHOL BLAST

Underground Explosion Routs Six Families.

Six families fled their homes yesterday when an alcohol still in the subbasement of a frame two flat building at 11718 Indiana avenue blew up, wrecking the apartment of its reputed owner, Steve Ostrowski, who was being sought last night.

The subbasement connects by a concrete tunnel with that under the building at 11722 Indiana avenue, in which four of the families live. Both buildings are owned by Ostrowski, who has a $4,000 HOLC mortgage against them. He lives on the first floor at 11718.

Call In Federal Agents.

Kensington police, summoned by excited neighbors after the blast, found the wreckage of the still. Agents of the federal alcohol tax unit were called in. They found 400 gallons of alcohol and a 300 gallon recooker, with several hundred gallons of mash.

A fire which followed the explosion was quickly extinguished. The foundations of the buildings were wrecked and all the windows of both houses blown out.

The still had been cleverly concealed. The tunnel, its entrance hidden by a concrete slab, led at an angle of nearly 45 degrees downward from 11722 to 11718, the subbasement of which had no other entrance.

Alky Drums Smashed.

In the subbasement and in the tunnel were stored the drums of alcohol, many of which were smashed by the blast.

Besides Ostrowski, who is 80 years old, the federal agents also were looking for a man, apparently injured in the explosion, who was seen by neighbors to climb from a basement window at 11722 holding his shoulder as if he were hurt. He ran to an automobile parked in front of the place and drove away. In the middle of the basement floor at 11722 was a five gallon can of alcohol which he evidently had dropped in his flight.

Gas inspectors found that fuel for firing the recooker had been stolen from a feeder line tapped in the basement of 11718.

Expose Delivery Method.

A means of secretly removing the alcohol was uncovered in a wooden shed against the back of the building at 11722. Hinges were found that would permit the shed wall to be raised to admit an automobile. In the slab that masked the tunnel was a tiny hole that admitted a long thin key. There was an electric ventilation system to dispel fumes.

Air Line Pays $32,500 for Cushing's Death in Crash

Settlement of a $400,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Harriet Cushing against the United Air Lines, Inc., for the death of her husband, John F. Cushing, was approved yesterday by Judge John F. O'Connell of the Probate court, for $32,500. Cushing, president of the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company, was one of twelve persons killed in a plane crash Oct. 6, 1935, near Cheyenne, Wyo. He left a $500,000 estate.

Manuel Kulwin, 1861 South Komenski avenue, testified yesterday he liked his wife's voice, but only when she sang over the radio. Mrs. Shirley Kulwin, 19 years old, said she didn't care what he thought; he had been cruel. So Judge Joseph M. Burke granted her a divorce and $5 a week alimony. They were married June 23, 1935, at Waukegan.

Dog Which Bit 5 Children Is Found to Have Rabies

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, yesterday warned that a small, brown, curly haired dog, which bit five children and two adults near 75th street and Ellis avenue, was found to be infected with rabies. Any other person who may have been bitten by this dog should report to the health department for anti-rabies treatment, he said.

EXPECT CLOTURE VOTE TO SHELVE ANTI-LYNCH BILL

End of Senate Filibuster Believed in Sight.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Shelving of the Wagner-Van Nuys anti-lynching bill, against which two dozen southern Democrats have filibustered for seventeen days, is expected to follow soon after the senate votes tomorrow on a motion to invoke the cloture rule. With a two-thirds vote of those present being required for adoption of the rule, which limits debate to one hour for each senator, not more than thirty senators are expected to vote for it.

When the roll is called at 1 p. m. tomorrow, one hour after the senate convenes, it will be the twelfth vote on the application of cloture since Woodrow Wilson's famous indictment of both the senate rules and "a little group of willful men" resulted in the adoption of rule 22 in 1917.

Invoked by Wilson.

President Wilson's blast was directed against eleven senators, only one of whom, George W. Norris [Radical, Neb.] still remains in the senate. They filibustered for three days at the close of the 64th congress in 1917 and killed his proposal to arm American merchantmen. The 65th congress was called into special session on the day the 64th expired, March 4, and the two-thirds cloture rule was adopted on March 8, 1917.

When the senate convened today Senators William H. Dieterich [D., Ill.] and William H. Smathers [D., N. J.] unsuccessfully sought unanimous consent to add their names to the formal motion filed last night to invoke the cloture rule. Seventeen senators signed the motion last night, one more than the number required under the rules.

Two Report Being Ill.

Both Dieterich and Smathers said they failed to sign the cloture motion last night because they were absent from the senate chamber on account of illness. For these statements they were taunted about efforts to climb on the cloture band wagon in the hope of restoring their political health.

Senator Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.], an opponent of the bill but not a filibuster, asked Smathers whether he thought signing the motion belatedly would restore his health. Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.], demanded to know where Dieterich was last night.

"I was at home with a cold, under a doctor's orders," Dieterich said.

"Was it the attending physician of the capitol?" Connally asked. Told that it was, he declared:

"The capitol physician, being an employé, is under a certain amount of duress from senators."

Connally objected to the unanimous consent request, as did Senator Richard B. Russell [D., Ga.], who held the floor most of the day.

After the gesture to invoke cloture is voted upon and defeated, proponents of the anti-lynching bill will make no determined effort to keep the measure before the senate, although they claim more than 60 votes in its favor. Concededly, southerners are strong enough to talk for months, if that should be necessary, and a log-jam of other legislation deemed pressing by the administration is piling up behind the filibuster.

Cloture Seen as "Out."

The expedient of attempting cloture, therefore, was resorted to as an out for the proponents of the bill. It will give them a chance to go on record, proving to their Negro constituents that they did all they could for the measure.

The present plan of the southerners is to carry on the filibuster until the conference report on the administration's farm dictatorship bill is ready, probably Friday or Saturday, before moving to lay the anti-lynching bill aside.

The proponents of the bill tactitly acknowledged that the fight is all over today when they gave unanimous consent for Senator Alva B. Adams [D., Col.] to take up and obtain adoption of a joint resolution making benefit payments available for sugar beet growers.

Many senators believe that when the cloture motion fails tomorrow it will mark the end of federal anti-lynching legislation not only for this session of congress, but for all time, just as the failure of a gag rule in 1891 marked the end of the so-called "force" legislation.

EXPECT REPUBLICANS TO COMPLETE COOK COUNTY SLATE TODAY

Republican slate makers are expected to complete the building of their Cook county ticket today and the Democrats will tackle the much simpler job they have in that field.

Having worked behind closed doors for three days, the slate subcommittee of the Republican county central committee will meet at the Hotel La Salle this evening for what is expected to be its final session. The local ticket is said to be almost complete and it probably will be announced at the close of the meeting.

P. A. Nash yesterday issued a call for a meeting of the Democratic county committee in the Morrison hotel bungalow at 4 o'clock this afternoon. This will be the first pre-primary meeting of the Cook county organization and if precedent is followed the business will consist merely of the presentation of candidates' names and the appointment of a slate committee. But other business, such as the question of the United States senatorship, may be taken up.

AIR SHOW VISITORS TO SEE BLIND FLYING SCHOOL IN OPERATION

Visitors at the International Air show which opens in the stockyards amphitheater tomorrow will be able to watch American Airlines' school of instrument flying in operation. The school is to be moved to the arena today from the company hangar at Chicago airport, and throughout the 10 day exhibition company pilots will report there for blind flying instruction and coaching in following the radio beam.

Capt. William B. Lester, chief instructor in blind flying for the air line system, will be in charge. The pilots will operate the company's Link trainer — a miniature airplane specially built for radio and blind flying practice. During the day 10 airplanes were flown to a landing strip outside the amphitheater. Another 20 are to be landed there today.

Our buddered, salted, luscious, hot, and flaky IDA HOES are so completely delicious and enough that folks sit and smile and eat for about seventeen minutes and then go away still smiling, regretfully, and so happy.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25c. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

a husband or wife to appear as a witness in such cases.

Ada may take the witness stand today to deny the murder charge.

"I hate Ada and could choke her."

Ada's cousin, Mrs. Alice Trafton, in whose home at 2908 Logan boulevard the children have been living, brought the youngsters yesterday to see their mother in court.

Mrs. Trafton, testifying for Ada, said Irene told her she had ways of getting rid of Ada.

"It was at that time," Mrs. Trafton testified, "that she told me she would kill Ada with arsenic. I said to her: 'Please don't think of things like that. She's the mother of three children.'"

FOSTER PARENTS WIN GIRL OF 2½ IN SETTLEMENT

After an out of court agreement had been reached, Judge Edmund K. Jarecki of the County court yesterday entered a formal order for the adoption of Florence Ann, 2½ years old, by her foster parents, Paul and Thelma Richter, 1917 South Christiana avenue.

Mrs. Della Staszkie Novak, 5021 South Hermitage avenue, to whom the child was born while she was unmarried, had sought to regain custody from the Richters who raised Florence Ann from a baby.

Robbers Menace 15 Tavern Customers in $1,500 Holdup

Fifteen patrons of the Garfield buffet, a tavern at 3800 Lake street, were placidly drinking up the offerings of two bartenders yesterday when three strangers entered. "Everybody get down on the floor," said one, displaying a pistol. "This is a stickup." The customers slid obediently off their stools. Then the robbers took $1,500 from Paul Galli, owner of the tavern, and fled.

RUSSIA SUSPENDS POSTAL SERVICE WITH JAPANESE

MOSCOW, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Soviet Russia today carried out its threat of action against Japanese "Hooliganism" by suspending all parcel post service with Japan in reprisal for the detention of a soviet mail plane in Manchoukuo.

An order effective tomorrow notified other nations of the international postal union that parcels to and from Japan would not be accepted for shipment across the soviet union. The order was announced as a temporary measure.

A soviet plane was said to have been forced down Dec. 19 while flying the Khabarovsk-Vladivostok line, paralleling the Manchoukuo frontier. The pilot, mechanic, and 11,000 pieces of mail were reported detained.

Judge Orders Husband to Save Old Homestead

Mrs. Dominica Bratta, 50 years old, complained yesterday that a $900 mortgage was due on her farm in Franklin Park, that she and her two daughters were hungry, and that there was no feed or hay for the cattle. Judge John J. Lupe said the cattle could wait, but ordered her husband, Cesare, 2312 Grand avenue, to pay the mortgage, $10 a week temporary alimony, and $15 arrearage. Mrs. Bratta's divorce bill charges cruelty.

GIVE TAMMANY LEADER 10 DAYS TO FIX DEFENSE

Ex-Clerk Is Accused of Harboring Fugitive.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 26.—Albert Marinelli, Tammany leader and reputed consort of the underworld, surrendered in the United States marshal's office in Brooklyn, today and was released in $2,500 bail pending trial on charges of having harbored and concealed a fugitive from the federal law. A federal grand jury indicted the bigwig in the Democratic organization yesterday.

A few hours after his release Marinelli went before the federal grand jury in Manhattan to tell his version of the Robinson-Rubens passport mystery. The fraudulent passports were issued in the county clerk's office from which Marinelli resigned under the fire of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey last month. Dewey called Marinelli the political ally of thieves, pickpockets, thugs, dope peddlers, and racketeers.

Handled with Delicacy.

Still a power in politics, however, Marinelli was handled with the greatest delicacy by his temporary captors. Last night the deputy marshals said they couldn't find him and so today Marinelli, freshly barbered and nattily dressed for the occasion, walked unescorted into Brooklyn's federal building. By a prearrangement, Deputy Marshal George Reiss met him in the lobby and, shielding Marinelli from photographers, whisked him by elevator to the marshal's office.

In the marshal's office Marinelli's attorney, Maurice Rappaport, was waiting. After a short consultation, Marinelli, the marshal and the lawyer strolled down the corridor to the courtroom of Federal Judge Marcus B. Campbell, before whom the indictment was returned yesterday.

Another Trial Halted.

Judge Campbell halted a trial of Marty Krompier, former lieutenant of Arthur [Dutch Schultz] Flegenheimer and four cronies for having concealed assets in bankruptcy. The jury filed out and Krompier and company took rear seats.

United States Attorney Harold St. L. O'Dougherty then came forward and presented Marinelli for arraignment. Rappaport entered a plea of not guilty for his client and was granted ten days in which to make any motions concerning the indictment.

The case was set for trial on March 2 and after being finger printed in the marshal's office the bond was honored and Marinelli was released.

ORDERS N. Y. INQUIRY ON ADVERTISING SALE FOR POLITICAL BOOKS

New York, Jan. 26.—[Special.]—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey today was investigating the use of public officials' names and offers of minor political favors to induce business men to advertise in a publication called the Democracy Yearbook. He said the case would be presented to the grand jury.

Robert Miller, editor of the Yearbook, is held in $10,000 bail. He was seized yesterday and charged with grand larceny on the complaint of William Benkert, a grain broker, who paid $375 for a page and a half advertisment in the publication.

Dewey's investigators said more than a dozen other alleged victims of Miller told of being promised political favors, usually the fixing of tax complaints, trafic tickets, and jury notices. In two cases advertisers received gold plated special deputy sherif's badges with courtesy cards bearing the name of Sherif Peter J. McGinness. Dewey said he was not certain the signature was the sherif's.

STRUCK BY CAR IN SNOW; DIES.

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Charles Bagnell, 72 years old, a retired farmer, died today of injuries incurred when he was struck by a car driven by Fitzhugh J. Harry. His widow, Maggie, injured at the same time, is in a hospital. Harry, who told police a snowstorm blinded him, was not held.

ROSS KIDNAPER SHOWS CONCERN —OVER CIGARS

"I don't want to see anybody, even a lawyer," he informed a jail guard, "and I don't care what they do to me."

At his request Jail Warden Frank Sain gave the prisoner reading matter dealing with the outdoors. Seadlund also demanded money to buy cigars, insisting that he had funds when federal agents arrested him on Jan. 14. The federal bureau of investigation office, however, told the jailer that Seadlund had nothing except the Ross ransom money, and his wish for cigars was not fulfilled.

OFFER WRITING SPECIMENS IN EXTORTION TRIAL

Some sixty specimens of the handwriting of Frank R. Thomas, Park Ridge insurance underwriter, were submitted yesterday to a jury in the courtroom of Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan where Thomas is on trial on charges of sending extortion letters through the mails. R. G. Lamberson, Oak Park publisher, received letters demanding $2,000 which the government claims Thomas wrote.

Agents of the federal bureau of investigation put the specimens of Thomas' handwriting in evidence preparatory to the calling of experts in an effort to prove the handwriting in the letters the same as the specimens taken from Thomas.

Two Robbers Terrorize Eleven; Flee with $300

Nine men and two women were terrorized yesterday in the office of the Gerber & Glass Music corporation, 1348 Newport avenue, by two robbers who compelled the manager, Samuel Winsberg, to surrender $300. Eight of the men are collectors who had just turned in their receipts. Leaving their victims lying on the floor the robbers fled in an automobile.

BUST THAT COLD WIDE OPEN

Don't Merely Humor It!

Deal with a cold in earnest. Deal with it in seriousness.

A cold is too fraught with danger to be taken lightly. Many a case of flu and pneumonia has started with nothing more than a "common cold."

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets) are what you want.

They are made expressly for the treatment of colds and not for all kinds of ailments.

First, they open the bowels.

Second, they check the infection in the system.

Third, they relieve the headache and fever.

Bromo Quinine tablets are a proven preparation. They have been on the market over 40 years and are the world's largest-selling cold tablet.

Bromo Quinine tablets come in 35c and 60c sizes. The 60c size is the better "buy." It gives you almost 20 per cent more for your money.

When you feel a cold coming on—don't wait—don't procrastinate—but go right to your druggist and get a package of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets).

BOOST GAS BILLS 30 TO 32 CENTS FOR HOME USERS

Commission Will Appeal Court Ruling.

Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski held yesterday that the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company is entitled to raise the monthly gas bills for 800,000 domestic consumers about 30 cents per customer. The boost is expected to increase the company's revenue approximately $3,000,000 annually. Of this sum the company says that more than $500,000 will be spent for taxes.

The court ruling sustained a recommendation of Special Master in Chancery William R. Swissler. Judge Klarkowski said he would sign the formal order within a few days. It will be a permanent injunction against the Illinois commerce commission, which refused to grant the rate increase.

May Appeal to High Court.

James M. Slattery, chairman of the commission, and Harry R. Booth, attorney, announced they will confer with Attorney General Otto Kerner and appeal the ruling, probably directly to the Illinois Supreme court. Booth said he may seek a high court order to restrain imposition of the new rate pending the appeal, and, if that is refused, will ask the court to impound the money from the excess rates.

When Gov. Horner, in Springfield, was apprised of the decision he said: "We have just begun to fight in the matter."

Under the new rates, the company proposes to increase its minimum domestic bill from 60 to 90 cents and to add 32 cents to all other domestic bills. The average household bill is now $2.07.

In upholding the master, Judge Klarkowski ruled that the present rates are confiscatory, producing only 3.3 per cent profit. The company, he said, is entitled to at least 6.5 per cent on its property valuation.

Value of Properties Disputed.

For purposes of rate making, the Illinois commerce commission fixed the value of company properties at $120,000,000, compared with $165,000,000 claimed by the company. On its own basis, the commission found that earnings in the year ending March 31, 1937, were $7,000,000, or at the rate of 5.95 per cent, which the commission held was fair.

In his report, affirmed by the court, Master Swissler found the value of company properties was $147,497,418. Estimating the net earnings for the year ending next March 31 at only $4,658,193. Swissler said the rate would be 3.3 per cent under the present rate.

Judge Klarkowski held that the annual depreciation account of the company should be $2,920,786, the figure claimed by attorneys for the company. The Illinois commerce commission attempted to slash this to $1,800,000, but the court refused approval.

Allowance for working capital was placed at no less than $8,250,000 by the court. The company claimed $11,000,000, and the commission, $7,500,000.

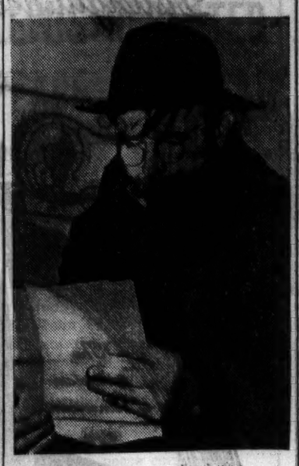
Case Pending Since 1936.

The gas case has been pending since June, 1936, when the company asked the commission for authority to raise rates. Ordering a full hearing, the commission denied permission to increase the rate pending a final order.

Appealing to the Circuit court, Judge Klarkowski granted the company a temporary injunction against the commission, but after the new rate schedule was instituted the Appellate court reversed the Klarkowski order.

The commission made a final ruling last May 22. This was taken again to court and last Sept. 11 Master Swissler made his recommendations which were affirmed yesterday.

No Relief for Aliens



(Associated Press Wirephoto.)

Frank Vencel, who has been in the United States for 32 years, examines his application for naturalization papers in Cleveland, where he is seeking citizenship. Threats of refusal to grant relief to aliens caused a flood of such applications in Ohio.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Aliens barred from relief by the Ohio legislature braved the winter's worst blizzard today to start the machinery which will make them American citizens.

In Cleveland, where one-fourth of the million-odd residents are foreign born, government officials said 1,700 persons in one week obtained blanks which months hence may qualify them for food, clothing, and fuel orders.

Gov. Martin L. Davey has until next Tuesday midnight to approve or veto the act of the legislature, which provides: "Only such aliens shall be entitled to relief who have filed their intention of becoming United States citizens."

36 HIGH SCHOOLS GRADUATE 8,071 IN MIDYEAR RITES

Graduation exercises will be held this evening at twenty-eight of the city's high schools and at two of the three junior colleges. Ceremonies in six other high schools, the Chicago Normal college, the Wilson Junior college, and the Washburn Continuation school are scheduled for tomorrow evening. Students at the Farragut and Hirsch High schools received their diplomas last evening.

A total of 8,071 students are being graduated from the thirty-six high schools. Lane Technical High school with 456 and Austin High school with 421 have the largest classes. Classes at the Normal and Junior colleges and the Washburn school total 505.

Aldermen Will Consider Finger Printing Reliefers

The question of requiring every applicant for relief to be finger printed will be discussed with the city council subcommittee on relief, Leo M. Lyons, commissioner of the Chicago Relief administration, said yesterday. During the day Lyons received Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes' opinion holding that he could ask the city council for such a regulation. Ald. William A. Rowan [10th], chairman of the subcommittee, said his group probably will meet next Tuesday.

The hearing was continued until Feb. 23 to prepare extradition papers. Tretiacov meanwhile was allowed his liberty on $1,000 bond.

Forced to Lie at Swindle Trial, Says Witness.

New York, Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Noble John Moore, chief prosecution witness at the 2½ million dollar Graham-McKay swindle trial, cracked on the witness stand this afternoon after two days of hammering in the federal court, and in dramatic, almost incoherent, fashion charged that he had been induced to lie and perjure himself on the witness stand at two previous trials of the case by false promises of executive clemency held out by federal prosecutors and investigators.

The charges followed by a few minutes the assertion that Mrs. Ruth Moore, wife of the witness, had been missing for ten days and that Moore did not know where she was, a situation which aroused concern among the federal authorities.

Fear She's Held as Hostage.

The authorities were not so far as to express fear that Mrs. Moore was being held as a hostage by persons determined to influence Moore's testimony at the trial.

A few hours later a press dispatch from Oakland, Cal., said a divorce suit was filed in the Alameda Superior court there today on Mrs. Moore's behalf. As grounds the complaint said that Moore had been convicted and had served a term in the federal penitentiary.

Before he had finished his testimony Moore charged that he was instructed to go to the witness chair against William J. Graham and James C. McKay, Reno gamblers and night club operators, at the 1934 and 1935 trials, and put them into the case by false testimony whenever he could.

Points Out Inspector.

He pointed out Postoffice Inspector Herbert Graham, a veteran of twenty years' service, as the man who told him he would be rewarded with a presidential pardon which would release him from Lewisburg penitentiary, where he was serving a term of four and a half years' imprisonment for confidence swindles.

"It was all arranged in Washington," said Moore, almost shouting, "between Inspector Graham and Joseph Keenan, chief assistant to the attorney general. I was to receive executive clemency."

When he had finished Justice Willis Van Devanter asked him whether he were mad at Inspector Graham.

"I'm not mad at him, but I don't think he is an honorable man," snapped Moore. A glance from Justice Van Devanter silenced a laugh that started in the tense courtroom.

Refrigerator Bounces Off His Head; He Feels All Right

Gus Anderson, 40 years old, 6328 Madison street, was helping carry a refrigerator downstairs at 6625 North Artesian avenue yesterday when he slipped. He tumbled to the foot of the steps and the refrigerator fell on his head. Although he suffered no serious injury he was taken to the St. Francis hospital in Evanston for observation.

SUCCESS OF SERVICE

By CALEB

A STORY is told here that many years ago our then general manager was walking through a section when he heard a young man tell a customer, "We do not have so-and-so. I guess maybe we should, but we don't." And the customer departed in disappointment.

The general manager returned to his office and sent for the young man. He handed him a newspaper and said, "Here, you read this while I go down the street and get for your customer, whom I happen to know, a so-and-so." And he put on his overcoat and hat and did just that, having the young man call the customer up on his return.

This interesting lesson for the young man was an extremity to which reasonable people would not expect executives generally to go. Nevertheless, when service fails here, it is usually (1) on the part of young people who have not been here long enough to become fervid for the Field tradition or (2) on the part of a very few among our many old employes who momentarily forget themselves.

Some months ago a veteran department head, hurrying through the store on an important mission, saw a man staring disconsolately at a slip of paper. She volunteered to help him and solved his problem perfectly. A greener person, more indifferent to the Field tradition and more ignorant of the fundamental satisfactions of serving, might not have paused.

Not long ago the manager of a group of important sections was seen to search diligently for the belt of a sale dress which had escaped a customer. The merchandise was low-priced and inexpensive. The sale crowd was large. "What kind of service does such a customer expect?" might have reasoned a less seasoned employe.

An elderly customer approached in our basement one of our busiest and ablest executives. The customer wanted to find a telephone where she would not have to dial. Our Miss D—— said such a phone was a long way off—in our third floor waiting room—and inquired, "May I make the call for you on this dial phone?" She called up the customer's daughter and told her to put the roast in the oven a half hour earlier and to cook beans instead of cabbage.

This important woman was not too important to take several minutes from her busy day and her involved responsibilities to do a little "kitchen work" for the customer.

A similar spirit of serving sooner or later grips many of our newer employes. When they acquire it, they usually become highly successful.

CHAIR PREPARED FOR MOTHER AND HIRED ASSASSIN

Two Will Go to Death Early Tomorrow.

Chester, Ill., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Officials of the southern Illinois penitentiary at Menard again were making preparations tonight to electrocute Mrs. Marie Porter, mother of four daughters, and the young man she hired to commit murder.

They were scheduled to go to the electric chair early Friday morning. Similar plans a week ago were halted by a reprieve granted by Lieut. Gov. John Stelle in the absence from the state of Gov. Henry Horner.

The condemned couple's last hope of escaping the extreme penalty waned today as no word came from Gov. Horner that he would grant them another reprieve.

Never before has a woman been electrocuted in Illinois, although a woman was hanged at Lawrenceville in 1845 for killing her husband.

Father Pleads for Son.

Discouraged and apparently resigned to the fate awaiting his son, E. J. Giancola, father of the young hired killer, Angelo Ralph Giancola, 22 years old, walked slowly out of Gov. Horner's office at Springfield this afternoon after making a final plea for his son's life.

"Well, I guess the law is the law," he said, in a scarcely audible voice.

The young man's parents and his sister, Ernestine, presented a petition to the pardon board yesterday, contending they had last minute evidence that altered the case.

No Evidence for Woman.

Instead of clearing Mrs. Porter, it tended to heap additional blame on her. The petition said Angelo contracted syphilis from the fat, pudgy faced woman, which lowered his moral stamina.

No evidence was presented in behalf of the woman. She was convicted of engineering the slaying of her brother, William Kappen, to prevent his insurance from going to his bride instead of her. Kappen was slain on what was to have been his wedding day, last July 4.

Angelo confessed his part in the slaying and said he killed Kappen at Mrs. Porter's bidding and in her presence. Angelo's brother, John, 20 years old, was convicted of helping in the crime and was sentenced to serve 99 years in prison.

Solar Disturbances

This chart shows how magnetic activity rises and falls with sun spot activity, which reaches its greatest intensity every 20 years.

Every eleven years, approximately, solar activity reaches a maximum, and the sun, usually content to play the rôle of mankind's gentle benefactor, begins heckling telegraphic, radio, and cable communication, and ships' compasses. The heckling takes the form of an enormous increase in the number of sun spots and a consequent dumping into the earth's upper atmosphere of ionized charges.

This is the explanation offered by Miss Maude Bennot, director of the Adler planetarium, for the number of magnetic storms in various parts of the world lately, and the beautiful displays of aurora borealis, or northern lights, which have been seen further south than ever before, so far as is known.

Michael Ference, instructor in the physics department of the University of Chicago, explains magnetic storms and their interference with various forms of communication as follows:

"Normally," he says, "every point on earth has a particular magnetic strength. A magnetic storm of any intensity alters the values of these magnetic strengths at various points, including huge currents in the earth which give rise to static effects. The only thing actually known as to the cause of these disturbances is that they coincide closely with sun spot activity."

3 MORE PLANTS CITED IN AIRPORT SMOKE CAMPAIGN

Three more manufacturing plants of the Clearing industrial district, located outside the city limits southwest of Chicago airport, were cited yesterday by Frank A. Chambers, head of the department of smoke abatement and inspection, as violators of the smoke ordinance. The department has been inspecting plants in the Clearing district since early in December when airport officials termed the smoke pall dangerous to planes.

The new concerns cited are Lamson & Sessions company, 6249 West 65th street; Western Electric company, 5959 West 66th street, and Rapinwax Paper company, 6147 West 65th street. Officials of the Lamson & Sessions company have been asked to appear before Chambers today and representatives of the other two plants will be called in early next week.

Montreal Raiders Padlock Alleged Communist School

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 26.—What provincial police assert was a communist school at 1617 St. Lawrence boulevard was padlocked this morning by a raiding squad. Fifty or sixty pupils attended the school, according to Col. P. A. Piuze, director of the provincial police. The raid, made under the padlock law, was the fourth in 24 hours on Montreal alleged "nests of communism."

4 WITNESSES TELL OF PLOT IN FRAUD TRIAL OF ATTORNEY

Four prosecution witnesses testified yesterday at the conspiracy trial of Attorney Harold Jackson and his investigator, J. S. Stahl, before Judge Robert Jerome Dunne in the Criminal court. The defendants are charged with attempting to defraud the Monon railroad in a personal injury suit.

Mrs. Frieda Hanief of Michigan City, whose story at the injury suit trial resulted in a $50,000 verdict for Rosemary Kieffer, 9 years old, finished her testimony begun Tuesday. She spent 30 days in jail for perjury after admitting her story false and causing the judgment to be set aside.

Other witnesses yesterday were William H. Naylor of Allegan, Mich., driver of the car that struck the child; his wife, and Clifford Whitaker, a railroad investigator. Naylor said the accident occurred about 400 feet from the railroad crossing and the railroad was not at fault. Whitaker said he once heard Jackson tell Mrs. Hanief: "We've got 'em where we want 'em. I'm going to raise the ante to $75,000."

Burglars Get $3,800 Loot from Store in Waukegan

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Tobacco Experts Smoke Luckies 2 to 1

Lee Moore—who judged 1½ million lbs. of tobacco in 3 weeks—explains why so many independent experts "go for" Luckies

"MY LIFE has been tobacco," says Mr. Moore. "I started as a tobacco farmer. Then, in 1909, I became an independent buyer—in 1920 a warehouseman—and since 1927 I've had my own tobacco warehouse in Georgia.

"It's a matter of dollars and cents to me to be able to judge tobacco quickly and accurately. Now I know exactly what kind of tobacco Lucky Strike buys. So I've smoked Luckies for 11 years."

This is the honest opinion of an impartial expert who sells tobacco to all cigarette manufacturers, but who is not connected with any. And there are many other such experts who agree with Mr. Moore.

Sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts—not connected with any cigarette manufacturer—Luckies have twice as many exclusive smokers as have all the other cigarettes combined.

GREEN REJECTS LEWIS' REPEATED PEACE PROPOSAL

Miners Demand Truce; Resent C. I. O. Cost.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chairman, late today made another proposal for peace with the American Federation of Labor but William Green, federation president, in Miami, said it was just a repetition of the unworkable plan that blocked the last labor peace conference.

The leader of the rebel Committee for Industrial Organization offered his suggestion in a speech before a convention of the United Mine Workers here. It came after protests had been made against the C. I. O.'s continued strife with the rest of organized labor and the expenditure of the miners' funds on what some believe to be a losing fight.

Lewis said the entire C. I. O. would march into the A. F. of L. on Feb. 1 if the federation would issue charters to his units and later call a convention to arrange details. Or, he added, the entire A. F. of L. could join the C. I. O.

Same Old Proposal.

"That is not a new proposal," said Green in Miami, Fla., where he is attending a meeting of the executive council of the A. F. of L.

"It is just the same old thing. No one will be deceived by it. It is identical with the impossible plan proposed by Lewis toward the end of the Washington peace conference after he had vetoed our proposals which had been accepted and approved by the C. I. O. committee.

"We rejected his plan then because it would not bring about peace. We rejected it because it only would serve to move the scene of war and dissension from outside the American Federation of Labor into its very midst. The same objections prevail now."

Dubinsky Is Key Man.

Green indicated he had hoped that David Dubinsky of the C. I. O. would pave the way for a resumption of peace negotiations between the rival organizations. Dubinsky, who is president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers, charged other C. I. O. leaders with vetoing the peace formula projected at the Washington conference.

"Dubinsky is carrying the ball," Green said. "If he can put it over the goal line, then there will be hope for a settlement."

The federation president said he had no hopes at present for a revival of negotiations. He declared there would have to be a change of heart or the other side because his proposition still stands. He had proposed a settlement between the A. F. of L. and the nine or ten unions that deserted the federation to form the C. I. O.

Miners Resent C. I. O. Cost.

Shortly before Lewis made his peace talk before the miners' convention, half a dozen resolutions expressing resentment over the labor warfare and its cost to the United Mine Workers had been placed before the delegates.

Typical of the growing rank and file opposition to the C. I. O. policy of borrowing heavily from its units was the resolution presented by a Hanna, Wyo., local.

"Be it resolved," said the resolution, "that this constitution convention of the United Mine Workers take definite steps to end this strife for the ultimate benefit of all organized labor in the United States.

"Be it further resolved, that a referendum be held among the rank and file of the United Mine Workers before any more funds of the United Mine Workers are expended in this cause."

VERNE BURNS.

Mrs. Verne Burns, 40 years old, whose last address was 2565 Monroe street, was arraigned yesterday with three men on charges of operating a confidence game after the four had passed worthless checks ranging from $40 to $70 on a number of small businesses. The hearing was continued until Feb. 10 while police seek to find the woman's husband, Harry Burns, and two others.

APPEALS COURT UPHOLDS ORDER AGAINST STRIKE

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 26.—(AP)—A preliminary injunction allowed by Vice Chancellor Maja Leon Berry against Newark strikers who sought the closed shop was upheld today by the court of Errors and Appeals.

The court's opinion passed over the question of the legality of the closed shop, which counsel for American Federation of Labor and Committee for Industrial organization unions in the state asked the court to decide once and for all. It merely ruled that the injunction prevented violence.

Berry declared, when the injunction was issued last July, that the closed shop was illegal and unenforceable and that strikes called to gain that objective were unlawful. The injunction restrained six unions from picketing and carrying on other activities against the International Ticket company of Newark.

PICKETS DEMAND DUES OR A PASS; MILL IS CLOSED

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 26.—(AP)—The Allegheny Steel company today closed its plant in nearby Brackenridge.

Vice President James O. Carr said the mill, employing 5,000, was shut down because C. I. O. pickets at the gates prevented men from coming to work, whether union or nonunion, unless the men had a receipt for dues, a dues card, or a pass from that union.

Philip Clowes, subregional director of the union, denied the pickets were interfering with men entering the plant. He said men who were in arrears on dues could obtain passes from union headquarters. Approximately 100 were told yesterday to get passes.

REALITIES AND NONRECOGNITION.

There is a story that Great Britain in spite of many sentimental objections at home wants to recognize the Italian conquest of Ethiopia but is stopped by the fact that the United States will not do so. The United States has stuck rather stubbornly to a declaration of foreign policy that it will not recognize any gains which are spoils of aggression in violation of treaties. Under President Wilson a variant had a particular slant at Mexico, where we refused to recognize a government based upon forcible overthrow and usurpation. That was evoked by disgust caused by the assassination of Madero.

The nonrecognition of conquests violating pledges and treaties is part of an attempt to give moral support to weaker nations and withhold face from the acts of aggressive ones. Aggressor nations should not expect to do as they please and have their sins forgotten as soon as they want to return to the family of nations.

Nonrecognition is a species of boycott. If it were carried further it would, as many people desire, set up embargoes against an aggressor while he was in the act. That has been feebly tried and failed. No one has wanted to take the chances involved in a thoroughgoing job of it. Our nonrecognition policy in effect says that the burglar can't come to church with the stolen silver still bulging in his pockets. Nations which say they are consulting their national necessities, serving their imperative national destiny, and raising the standards of living in the lands they invade do not like to be regarded as burglars and they have a great deal to say of burglarious nations which have so operated in the past and are now sitting in the front pew as solid, honest citizens.

Soon after Japan set up the kingdom of Manchukuo, which the United States refuses to recognize, trade difficulties arose. American oil companies were put under some restrictions. Our state department protested to Tokio and had its attention directed to the fact that Manchukuo was a government by itself. A protest should be directed there. To our state department there was no Manchukuan government. We were invited to deal with something we said did not exist and the Japanese said was there. The smile was altogether Japanese.

Mussolini has made the king of Italy emperor of Ethiopia, but he is not emperor of Ethiopia to our state department because Mussolini's acquisition of Haile Selassie's territory is not recognized. The emperor of Ethiopia is not in Rome but he is somewhere in England as the guest of the British government. Presently we'll have some new Japanese arrangements in China to deal with, and if the policy of nonrecognition is followed the government of China will be wherever Chiang Kai-shek happens to be, even if that should be somewhere in the Himalayas.

If new arrangements in Manchukuo, China, Ethiopia or anywhere else prevail, they will be facts that sooner or later must enter the history books, the knowledge of men, and the recognition of governments. Nonrecognition applies a high principle, but it hasn't prevented the aggressor from taking what he wanted and what he could get. It has added an element of unreality to our diplomatic relations and it compels the state department to ignore the people with whom it must deal in certain negotiations. Something could be said for the acceptance of a de facto government when American interests are concerned and when these interests cannot be protected without recognizing the authorities with whom negotiations must be conducted. That doesn't involve moral encouragement or moral approval but only says that if a certain government is in control of China that is the government with which the United States will have to deal. That's the fact, whether we like it or not.

SENATOR BYRD'S MINORITY REPORT.

Senator Byrd's minority report, opposing the new senate bill for governmental reorganization, received far less attention than it deserved. Mr. Byrd is an authority on the subject; he has given it the most careful study over a period of years.

Two of his points are particularly deserving of emphasis. He calls attention to the fact that the plan now under consideration is not calculated to result in much, if any, saving of money. He takes the common sense view that economy should be a principal objective of any reorganization scheme. The ordinary expenditures of government [which do not include outlays for recovery or relief] have mounted steadily from 2 billion 700 million in the 1934 fiscal year to 4 billion 400 million in 1937. The estimated figure for 1938 is 5 billion 400 million, or double the figure of four years before. Mr. Byrd is satisfied that an immediate 10 per cent cut in the ordinary expenditures is possible without loss of efficiency. A reorganization which would not seek at least a 10 per cent reduction would hardly be worth effecting.

Mr. Byrd is properly alarmed at the purpose he detects in the bill. The framers, he suspects, were less concerned to provide greater efficiency in the government than to fasten a dictatorial control upon the whole establishment.

"Delegations of power [as given in the bill to the President] are at best wedges of great potential danger in our form of government," he observes. . . . "Any new authorization of power must be explicitly defined, safely curbed, and definitely limited."

His argument in favor of retaining the controler general to prevent unauthorized expenditures is directly in point. There is small reason to fear that the country will be ruined by this check upon promiscuous spending, but every reason to fear unhampered administrative discretion in interpreting congressional appropriations. If the executive departments had been unable to function because they could not get the money voted to them there might be some excuse for the feud against the controler general, but that is obviously not the situation in Washington. A government whose annual outlay for routine services has doubled in five years cannot seriously argue that its spending has been greatly hampered.

THE BOUNTY ON LOW WAGES.

In a number of the smaller cities of Egypt, from 100 to 200 miles from Cairo, are to be found branches of the great St. Louis shoe companies. This, however, is not a piece about the footwear worn at their nuptials recently by King Farouk and Miss Farida Zulficar. The Egypt of which we are speaking is, of course, that section of Illinois which calls Cairo, the river city in the toe of the state, its capital. These factories moved to the smaller towns because the prevailing wages in the towns were sufficiently lower than in St. Louis to compensate for other disadvantages.

Wage differentials account for the migration of factories elsewhere about the country. Low wages has been the particular appeal of the south. The vast shifting of factories to Dixie from New England during the past two decades has scarcely any other explanation.

The New Deal has seen to it that the low wage advantage has been retained by the south. The NRA codes uniformly provided one minimum wage rate for the north and another lower wage rate for the south. That not only provided lower wages but advertised them.

Senator H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire in a senate speech on Tuesday showed that the government is giving a subsidy to four large industrial firms which have agreed to operate branches in the low wage area. The four companies are the Aluminum Company of America, the Union Carbide and Carbon company, the Monsanto Chemical company and the Victor Chemical works. Two of these companies are included in the list of 200 largest corporations compiled by the braintrusters Berle and Means. One of the companies the government is attempting to prosecute as a trust. The subsidy to the Aluminum company alone Senator Bridges found to be $400,000 per year.

The $400,000 represents the saving in power costs which the Aluminum company will enjoy as a result of its contract with TVA. Senator Bridges also showed that though TVA was supposed to be for the "forgotten man," actually the low rates have gone to big businesses of the type of the Aluminum corporation. The government has contracted to sell the four companies mentioned enough power to light every street light and run every street car, interurban car and electric railroad in the country for a month.

The government which insists it wants wages higher is thus giving bounties to those who will move to the low wage areas. Prominent among those receiving this consideration is a company repeatedly denounced as a trust by the New Deal. These are inconsistencies worthy of Senator Ashhurst. But there is a more exaggerated one.

On Jan. 3 President Roosevelt, in his message to congress, declared that there are a number of "wrongful business practices which most people believe should be ended." He climaxed his list of "wrongful business practices" with the following: "The shifting of actual production from one locality to another in pursuit of the cheapest wage scales."

What can be said of a national administration which gives bounties to firms to shift operations to the lowest wage areas, and then says there ought to be a law against it?

THE OLD WONDERS STILL ARE.

Hal Foust, TRIBUNE trailerite, trailering near Mammoth cave in Kentucky, had just enough curiosity to stop to take a glimpse at what all the reputation was about and was held four hours without exhausting that curiosity. It can't be said that everybody knows all about Mammoth cave and no one goes to see it, because there were more than 83,000 visitors at this park reservation last year. That means that there are still some old-fashioned sight-seeing gadders who do not assume that because a thing was a wonder in grandmother's day it cannot be a wonder in theirs.

Custom stales the interest. If a great many people have gone to see a thing there seems to be a good reason in that for not going where they went, to Niagara falls, for instance. As a wonder in the stereopticon days, Mammoth cave, like many other of the old attractions, holds its own in the days of the moving picture camera and sound track. Many a modern tourist has to conquer an instinctive feeling that the much seen things of older days have been dated along with the people who were simple enough to be astonished by them.

Editorial of the Day

ASK THE BANKER.

[Grand Rapids Press.]

"Why can't a small bank support itself, especially nowadays with federal supervision and deposit insurance?"

President Roosevelt made this query at a press conference with the supposition that he was presenting a leading question on the subject of central banking control through large holding concerns.

The true answer to that question has been presented frequently by small bankers right here in western Michigan. These bankers have raised a somewhat different question: "How can a small bank support itself nowadays with federal supervision?" And many of them have gone on to say that it can't be done. They can avoid losing money, perhaps, but they can't make any either when confronted with government competition in the rural areas and with regulation that freezes their assets in low bearing securities to maintain excessive liquidity.

If the President really wants an answer to his question why doesn't he ask the small bankers? They will be able to tell him much better than the reporters. And their answers are not likely to be too complimentary to the present paternal system.

CUFFNOTES—John Alden Carpenter, along with Hindemuth, Kodaly and Strawinsky, and other contemporary composers, will write music for the new Ballet de Monte Carlo, backed by World Art, Inc., which goes into rehersal in Monte Carlo in February. Massine sails next week to take charge. Famous modern painters will do sets, and there is enough money raised now to do four new ballets next season. . . . The reason the name Lord Beaconsfield is pronounced as it sounds instead of "Bekkonsfield"—English style—is because, according to the Monypenny biography of Disraeli, the prime minister specified, when he was raised to the peerage, that he wanted it pronounced Beaconsfield, not Bekkonsfield, as the town is pronounced. SERVE TRANQUILITY AT MEALTIME.

HOW do the emotions affect digestion? Most of us, I am sure, have had the experience of becoming so upset, so much at cross-purposes that appetite fails utterly and if food is taken it literally is choked down. William Beaumont, distinguished army surgeon, who watched the behavior of the stomach of the wounded Canadian, Alexis St. Martin, found that whenever his patient exhibited an outburst of anger the secretion of the gastric juice was lessened greatly or stopped entirely.

There is such a thing then as functional dyspepsia or, as some prefer to call it, nervous indigestion. If you happen to be seated at a banquet table where you can observe some one who knows that he is about to be called on for a speech you will notice that, unless he is a trained speaker, he will toy with his plate, eating practically nothing. When he returns home he actually may regret what little he has taken, showing that worry and fear can so influence the alimentary tract as to approximate disordered digestion.

Thus we may account for many cases which come to the physician. The more sensitive, the more delicate the nervous system, the more frequent will be these attacks. A hidden anxiety of which the individual is conscious most of the time—the fear of losing one's job, apprehension over health—may focus on the unsuspecting gastric pouch a set of symptoms which cannot be reconciled with the obvious good health of the organ itself.

When the condition is manifest in men it is usually a come-and-go affair. A mental strain may pass, whereupon digestion reverts to normal. Some, however, will describe intense pain much like that caused by a peptic ulcer. In consequence they are afraid to eat because distress is the inevitable result. When asked about the location of the discomfort there is, as a rule, considerable indefiniteness. At first gas is complained of, later a sense of fullness after meals, with actual pain.

Just the other day I ran across an old friend who was suffering from this state of affairs. Before dinner he would have the appetite of a Hercules, but halfway through there would come a feeling of satiety and then irritation. He related that for two or three weeks he had vomited at least once every other day. The trouble was not in any particular spot, but all over the upper abdomen.

A careful examination of the stomach—by means of test meals and X-ray plates—revealed nothing out of line. A few doses of a mild sedative cleared up the situation entirely. Rather than dismiss these patients with a wave of the hand, it is far better to explain the exact nature of the phenomenon. "You are worried, fatigued, disturbed, and your body takes it out on your digestive tract. Seek more sleep and outdoor exercise, more peace of mind, and all will be well. In the meantime, sedatives will help."

The proverbs of Solomon wisely warn against a house that is full of feasting with strife. As with our emotionally perturbed French-Canadian, the secretions fail and the dissolving of food stops.

I am sure that much indigestion arises because meals are taken too soon after leaving work, especially if the day has been a strenuous one; if many problems and possibly some annoyances have arisen. If half an hour of rest lying down before the evening meal can be arranged for all such persons, the difficulty will vanish.

I have met hundreds of men and women whose chief ailment was a "weak stomach." They have talked it, thought it, and mulled over it so long that it has become almost an obsession. Some of them, perchance, have taken digestive tablets or have become devotees of essence of pepsin. These medicines may be quite all right for their psychological effects, but they cannot in the slightest degree compensate for nature's alchemy.

If we can only persuade these individuals to rest, to control their emotions, and at the same time do some physical work that is stimulating, these annoying symptoms will vanish.

CONCERNING AMNESIA.

F. K. writes: What is amnesia? Is there an amnesia where the patient just forgets about the past, but not how to write, read, and speak? Can a doctor give a patient who suffers a great deal mentally amnesia so that he can forget a sorrowful past? If not, what can the patient do to forget about the past which bothers him?

REPLY.

Amnesia is loss of memory. This may be complete for past events. Amnesic aphasia is inability to recall the name of an object or words wanted to express an idea. There are many forms of the difficulty, one of which is retrograde amnesia. This refers to events occurring before the attack leading to the present condition. The disorder cannot be artificially induced. Sad memories become more tolerable in time with the introduction of new thoughts and experiences. Most people find solace through interesting themselves in others who need sympathetic help. Hobbies also are an aid. We have a list of books on mental hygiene which we will send upon receipt of a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

NOT SOURCE OF CANCER.

B. C. writes: Would it be wise to eat canned fruit and vegetables put up a year ago by a woman who died recently of cancer?

REPLY.

There is no evidence that cancer is contagious. The fruit is safe, as far as that disease is concerned.

FOR TREATING EAR.

M. H. writes: I have trouble with wax forming in the left ear. On the average of every six months I have the doctor syringe the ear. Is there anything to prevent this from recurring?

REPLY.

A drop of glycerin may be used in the ear canal about once a week. The syringe need not be used often, as harm may be done by too frequent douching. The water should be boiled previously and then warmed.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY VICENTE ALBANO PACIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, P. I.—The third colonization of the Philippines—following those by Spain and the United States—is seen in the future by observers through the adoption of Tagalog by President Quezon and the national assembly as the Philippine national language. The Tagalogs are to be the third colonizers. President Roosevelt unwittingly gave them leave when he signed the Philippine constitution.

Enjoined by the constitution to make provisions for the development of a national language based "on one of the existing dialects," the national assembly about a year ago passed a law creating an institute of national language and instructing this body to select a dialect.

The law provided further that, after having chosen the basic dialect, the institute should evolve the national language by adding to it words and expressions from the other native dialects and from English, Spanish, Latin and Greek. The institute also was instructed to compile a dictionary of the new language.

The institute recommended Tagalog to the President. The President, in turn, proclaimed Tagalog as the basis of the national language on Nov. 30, 1937. He decreed the proclamation effective in two years, when the institute is expected to have completed its task. The presidential proclamation was acclaimed everywhere in the Philippines as a great forward step in Philippine nationalism and culture.

Upon a more thorough study, however, observers perceived that the islands might have taken a wooden nickel. For the language, as evolved, will be only partially native to the Tagalog group, and completely foreign to the non-Tagalog peoples like the Visayan, Ilocano, Moro, and others.

Let us see why. The highest claim for Tagalog is that it has only 20,000 words, many of which already are adaptations from English or Spanish. Since an educated man needs 100,000 words in his vocabulary, and Webster's International Dictionary contains 800,000 words, it is obvious that, to complete Tagalog, at least some 60,000 other words must be added to its glossary.

Practically none of these will come from the other dialects [there are eleven principal Philippine languages] for the simple reason that Tagalog, being the most developed Philippine language, has nearly every word found in the other dialects. The additions and adaptations will of necessity come from non-Philippine languages. To the non-Tagalog Filipinos, who compose about three-fourths of the total population, Tagalog is completely foreign.

But now, with the impetus given the movement by the presidential proclamation, provincial and municipal governments in the Tagalog region are adopting Tagalog as the official language. The National Education council, a Quezon creation, has recommended the teaching of Tagalog as a subject in the high schools. From other sources the suggestion has come that it be taught in the elementary schools and colleges as well.

Observers believe Tagalog will replace both English and Spanish as the sole official language, that Tagalog will replace English as the medium of instruction in the public schools, and that the dominance of Tagalog in the government and in the schools and, therefore, in the business and social scheme as well, will give the Tagalog group lingual superiority over the other groups.

The non-Tagalog groups, after realizing that their dialects are not represented in the national language, may resist. They may prefer English and Spanish, with which they have been familiar for many generations. Nevertheless, politics and propaganda may stifle dissent.

If Tagalog is imposed, then observers expect the third colonization of the Philippines to begin—by Tagalogs. They naturally will be the most fluent. They will be most in demand as teachers, as professionals, as public officials, and as business men. They will be the Philippines' chosen people—the masters of the Filipinos after the Spaniards and the Americans.

UNPAID TAXES.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—We have a lot on a business street—unimproved—on which we owe taxes since 1930.

1. Will we be notified if it is sold for taxes?

2. If sold how long do we have to redeem it?

3. It is a part of an estate still in probate [for five years]. Will this affect sale? M. M.

1. Property is offered to tax sale each year in which there is a default. In absence of bidding at the tax sale, there is what is called a "forfeiture" to the state of Illinois.

2. Two years from the date of the tax sale, after which a tax deed issues, which will be a serious cloud on the title.

3. Ordinarily completion of probate is necessary in order to make the title readily salable, if that is what you mean to ask.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PERSONAL NOTE.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a personal note in my favor with no date on it. It was issued about five years ago.

1. Can the time limit be enforced? This person has gone through bankruptcy.

2. Where can I verify whether this note has been declared? I have made two attempts to collect this note in the last month and [3] received the answer that if I wait until business gets better some payment would be made.

4. Would you suggest an attorney, collection agency, or a judgment? F. C.

1. The statute of limitations would be ten years from the maturity date. If the date of issue of the instrument proves material, it would depend on oral testimony.

2. In the office of the clerk of the United States District court, in the United States courthouse.

3. It seems possible but not probable that these statements might amount to a promise cutting off the bankruptcy defense. We cannot advise to advantage without knowing exactly what was said.

4. It would not be wise for you to incur any expense unless you have some answer to the bankruptcy defense.

SILENT AND CAUTIOUS.

Berwyn, Ill., Jan. 23.—One of your editorial writers has a habit of sticking his neck out, and then somebody comes down on it with a big ax. He sounds like our old correspondent, McCarty. He goes all hi-de-ho about the Swedes, Norwegians, English, and what not; and Saturday he went into a long glissando about thumb to thumb Moslem weddings, wherein the kid king of Egypt marries his father-in- and in-laws. However, I would suggest that he join a good stamp exchange and correspondence club, and he might even learn the how come and why of a thumb to thumb Moslem wedding from a Moslem, which is probably no goofier than the spectacle of a lot of screwballs running around in bed sheets would be to an Egyptian or Moslem.

For real goofiness, the story about the G-men bringing Seadlund into Chicago is a honey. Twenty guards with tommy-guns, the plane was jacked into the hangar and Mr. Hoover shoved his head fearfully out, to see if everything was jake and the prisoner couldn't escape. Escape from whom? They had enough chains and iron on him to build little Adam a new cage. Then they shoved him in a car and the motorcade went east on 63d to Michigan. Then they went around the block, fearful that some one would follow and spring the prisoner.

Meanwhile they were all blaring on sirens, at that time of the night, and then the college graduates from the police department got into the game with their marbles and they also bore down on the sirens. Hell's bells, they were very confidential about losing any pursuer; and the guy that wrote the piece evidently had no trouble staying with the procession. He probably blew his horn also, just to make it unanimous. Then people ask, "Shall I send my boy to college?"

But anyway, thank heaven, they got to the Bankers building without anybody knowing anything about it. To climax it they went in through the alley door. Give a man some cannons and he'll shoot 'em. Give him a siren and he'll bear down on the button; and hokum runs wild. HANK SCHINDLER.

ELEVATED OR BUS?

Chicago, Jan. 24.—If the residents of Oak Park and Austin have at any time entertained the hope or belief that the solution of their transportation problems was through the use of buses, surely this morning's experience should have settled the idea once and for all.

We reached the Lake street "L" stations this morning, only to find them crowded and service completely demoralized. Rumor had it that the surface line, too, was involved in the trouble, so most of us resorted to the Washington boulevard buses.

Crowded to a point of suffocation, the air thick with gas from the exhaust and not a single ventilator open, we jolted down on a bus marked "limited stops," but which took fifty minutes from Austin avenue to Wells street, under weather conditions which offered little or no excuse for the time consumed. Had there been sleet or snow, no doubt we would have reached the loop about noon.

As antiquated and utterly inadequate as is the service tolerated on the Lake street 'L," it is infinitely better than what the buses have to offer; what the residents of the western suburbs should demand and certainly are entitled to is better "L" service. AN AUSTINITE.

EDUCATION FOR THE FEET.

La Grange Park, Ill., Jan. 20.—A writer in today's TRIBUNE wonders what particular good may accrue to the younger generation through the teaching of tap dancing in the schools.

For general well-being, some training is necessary for the feet as well as for the hands. Children learning tap dancing should have strong arches and ankles. They will be less likely to trip and stumble, being the more able to regain their equilibrium. They should walk the more gracefully, having ease of motion as a permanent acquirement. And if they are sensible they will keep in practice, not only for their own pleasure, but also for security in their occupations. Many a career has suddenly ended because of weak arches and ankles.

So, if training in tap dancing is compulsory, there must be good reason for such training. JAMES A. ERICKSON.

IS THERE?

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Is there now existent any formal organization designed to bring capital and the inventor together? It is quite true that sooner or later most worthy inventions find liberal backing. But it is all too often only after the unfortunate originator and creator of the invention has been forced to retire from the field, dragging behind him the sorry remnants of his once high—and quite legitimate—hopes.

SHANLEY A. GORDON.

PARTY UPSTAIRS.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—This being Sunday morning, I suppose that you could call this a letter of morning service, or a sermon, or something. But I only intend it to be a letter of advice and warning to a very large number of our great populace, the tenants of apartments who have neighbors below or above them, or both.

Last night our neighbors above us had a very wild and noisy brawl. I have two children, one 3 years and the other 3 months old. Besides my wife and boys my dad is also living with me. My dad has a serious heart ailment which makes it impossible for him to work; he can't stand physical strain or any kind of excitement. If he is the least bit annoyed or excited he gets one of his heart attacks, and he got a severe one last night or rather this morning, as the party upstairs didn't wind up until 4:45 a. m.

Usually noise never bothers me, as I'm a good sleeper, probably because my work is from 9 a. m. to midnight six days a week and I'm all tired out. But the noise at said party beat all. They talked loud, yelled, scraped chairs, walked like elephants, stamped on the floor, and acted just like one of those children's parties, only worse. When my dad got his fill he rapped on the wall and ceiling for less noise and they yelled back like silly youngsters and returned the rapping doubly.

The result of it all was that none of us slept a wink until the party broke up and my dad had his heart attack. He can't have many more of those without fatal results and I got to thinking this morning that if he did pass away from the result of said attack could I have preferred manslaughter charges against the revelers?

For civilized flat renters a good motto is, "Treat your neighbor as you would have him treat you." As for the uncivilized ones, I wish they would buy houses out in the country so they could enjoy themselves [if you would call the morning-after effects enjoyment] and let people who wish to do so live in peace.

FLAT RENTER.

PRO-JAPANESE.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—I cannot understand what objection people have toward Japan for taking over China. I do see that the method Japan is using is rather drastic, but vigorous methods are sometimes necessary to enable us to correct our own children.

My understanding is that, although China is among the oldest of the "civilized" nations, there are many large cities there, such as Peiping, that have neither paved streets nor electric lights. The crime situation in China, robbery, kidnaping for ransom, etc., is almost as bad as in Chicago. Their government has been unable to enforce the laws. Their army was split up and part of it was little better than a band of uniformed bandits. The sanitary and living conditions in some parts of China today are so vile that they are incomparable with other nations.

Does any one think that such conditions will be permitted to exist in China under the control of Japan? I imagine Japan will immediately modernize China and enforce upon China [as much as possible] the cleanliness which Japan practices at home.

In a business way China will prosper more, because no one will deny that Japan is so progressive as to give other nations a headache, and Japan has been importing more from the United States than China ever did.

Now, kind readers, you can heap coals of fire upon my head, accuse me of treason and lack of patriotism, but the conquest of China by Japan would improve living conditions in both countries and would make economic affairs better just as soon as Japan has established a responsible government in China.

ROBERT M. CHASE.

THE FASHION.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—Why is it that young women in the upper crust of society who have all the advantages of cultural training, social decorum, etc., will permit themselves to be photographed at their very ultra affairs scantily attired, leering out from behind a cigaret and a cocktail?

Isn't it fashionable to look like a lady any more?

The impression they make on the other half is too, too disgusting.

I DISAPPROVE.

YOU CAN'T FOOL HIM.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—It will take a much greater degree of intellect than that exhibited by the partisan opposition to alienate the loyal, independent followers of our humane and progressive President. With our higher standard of education people have really become capable of thinking for themselves and are no longer influenced by bunk and propaganda. H. E. V.

REPORT KING ZOG WILL BE MARRIED TO COUNTESS, 22

Betrothal Announcement Expected Soon.

TIRANA, Albania, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The presence in Tirana of the beautiful Hungarian Countess Geraldine Apponyi, whose mother was an American, today gave currency to reports she would marry Albania's bachelor King Zog.

King Zog.

[In Budapest Countess George Palavicini, close friend of the countess, said an announcement of engagement was expected in a few days.]

The countess, who is 22 years old, is a daughter of the former Gladys Virginia Stewart of New York, who was married in Geneva on July 29, 1914, to Count Julius Nagy-Apponyi, member of the old Hungarian families of Apponyi and Karolyi.

Informed Albanians expressed belief that an announcement of the king's engagement would have been made before but for Zog's desire to avoid any conflict in time with the weddings of King Farouk of Egypt and Prince Paul of Greece earlier this month.

The countess recently resigned a job as an office girl in the Budapest national museum which paid her a salary of 220 pengoes [about $45] a month.

[In Budapest friends said Countess Geraldine had left unexpectedly a few days ago for Trieste accompanied by Count Louis Apponyi, an aunt, Adele Apponyi, and a third relative. At Trieste, the friends said, she expected to receive definite word from King Zog as to whether she should go to Tirana or continue to Rome.]

Countess Geraldine speaks English, French, and German, in addition to Hungarian. She has a younger sister, Countess Virginia.

LEVIATHAN WAITS THREE HOURS FOR A MEDICAL CHEST

New York, Jan. 26.—[Special.]—A medicine chest caused a delay of three hours today in the last voyage of the liner Leviathan, bound for Rosyth, Scotland, to be scrapped.

After sailing from Hoboken late yesterday the Leviathan anchored off Tompkinsville, Staten Island, to take on additional fuel oil. The big liner today cleared the lower bay and cruised slowly around while technicians checked and adjusted her compasses.

When that work was completed Capt. John W. Binks found that no medicine kit had been put aboard and declined to go to sea without medical supplies.

He radioed for a kit and anchored two miles east of Scotland lightship, off the entrance to the harbor, to wait for it.

Husband in Alimony Row, She Can't Sleep; He's Freed

Mrs. Marie Leiterman, 2250 Geneva Terrace, appeared yesterday with her attorney, Joseph H. Finnegan accordingly released Leiterman, who is 35 years old and a WPA worker, although Leiterman gave no indication he would pay the arrearage. Mrs. Leiterman is suing for divorce.

THERE'S A BULL IN HIS LIFE, BUT NO LIFE IN HIS BULL

For the last two weeks there has been a bull in the window of a vacant store building at 643 Milwaukee avenue. Passersby stopped to stare. Some even got off street cars and out of automobiles to look and back hastily away from the fearsome beast.

Several called the Humane society, some in fear and others in sympathy. Yesterday the Humane society sent an investigator. He found the animal past all caring. It was stuffed. It belongs to Thomas Mecili of 460 North May street, who collects such. He has a dog, a horse, two parrots, and a billy goat. He bought the bull a couple of weeks ago and put it in the vacant store, which he owns, to await the arrival of a taxidermist who will fix one of the horns which was broken.

DIVER SEARCHES IN RIVER VAINLY FOR MURDER GUN

A diver, Edward Knudsen, searched the bed of the Chicago river at Western avenue yesterday in a futile effort to find the pistol used in the murder of Miss Jean Riley, cashier at the Windsor theater. Arthur La Frana of 2621 Cortland street, who admitted shooting the girl in a hold-up on Dec. 10, said he threw the gun, a .25 caliber automatic, into the river. The diver reported that mud on the river bottom was too deep to permit a search for the gun.

ILLINOIS FARM SOCIETY SALES ARE 95 MILLIONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Business representatives of eleven subsidiaries of the Illinois Agricultural association, serving 100,000 farmers, met separately here today and reported an aggregate business of $111,978,815 handled last year. This represents the value of farm products sold coöperatively, supplies bought, and insurance premiums collected.

The meetings of these business and commercial groups were conducted preliminary to the association's convention in the state armory tomorrow morning, continuing through Friday.

Officials of five of the producers' selling agencies reported that nearly 95 million dollars' worth of live stock, milk and butter, grain, and fruits and vegetables were sold coöperatively in 1937.

L. R. Marchant, manager of the farm supply buying subsidiary, gave figures showing that 13 million dollars' worth of such products as gasoline, oil, feed, paint, and automobile tires were bought by farmers through their agency. This resulted in a saving of $1,363,514.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

Dictated Farming

Jan. 26, 1938.

IN America today many fear that government control of agriculture is just another step toward dictatorship. Many individuals have been reading reports and stories from foreign countries to learn just how the farmer fares when he is put under a dictator.

Germany is furnishing them with a good example of the position of a farmer under a dictator. But the agricultural problems of America and Germany are different.

Planners say that America has a surplus of farm products and must find some way of holding down production in line with demand, keeping a surplus on hand for bad years. Planners say Germany is short of food and must find ways to increase production and save food.

Every Step Regulated.

German farmers are told what to grow, how much to grow, and what to do with the products. American farmers have been taught to farm under a free system. They do not like to think of being told how much they can plant.

Under the Nazi dictatorship in Germany all agriculture is run under the strictest government supervision in an effort to solve the farm and food problem. American agriculture may soon be back under government control in the effort that is being made here to solve the farmer's difficulties.

In Germany dictatorship has led to absolute farm control, even to the point of government management of all farm lands that Hitler's men think are not being run to the fullest production capacity under private management.

Stories coming out of Germany tell of the drastic campaign against waste. This campaign is carried down to the individual farmer who is compelled not only to produce efficiently but must deliver his products to a control station.

Watched Closely.

Some writers say that in Germany government men do not trust the honesty of the farmer and his family, but actually go to the farm to see that the producer is delivering to the control stations all that he produces. This control has reached the point, according to reports, that a farmer is not allowed to keep products even for the use of his family, but must deliver all that he produces and then buy back what he needs. He is paid a fixed price for his products.

The custom of making pork out of hogs on farms has been done away with in Germany, reports say. Under the Nazi dictatorship the German farmer now brings all his hogs to the control station and is paid the government's fixed price. A German farmer may own his land, but the crops and live stock produced are not his to use or to sell as he pleases, as has been the traditional privilege in America since men started farming here 300 years ago.

If the German farmer's predicament is what comes with a dictator, many American farmers fear proposals to place agriculture under government control which might lead to a dictatorship in this country.

"GREAT STUFF"

"REM has always helped [illegible] a cough. It's great stuff!"

Dr. Henry M. Walters, 2044 S. Mildred Street, Philadelphia

Sure!

"Great stuff!"—says Mr. Walters. You'll say that, too—if you'll try REM for a cough resulting from a cold. REM is so effective because it is thorough—it works two ways . . . in the throat and also systemically. REM is much more than just a "tickle stopper."

BLENDED WHISKEY—IT'S OUR FAMILY'S WHISKEY, NEIGHBOR!

No matter what happens, we've got to keep the Hill Road open for trucking Our Family's Whiskey down to the depot. But there's no place so cold as sitting on that old plough with the wind coming across the pond and boring through your bones. Our dog Jessie she just loves it—with the plough kicking up the snow and all.

Harry E. Wilken

You sure feel good—knowing there's that tasty Family Recipe at home!

When you come in from out of doors about half froze up, somehow a swallow of our Family's Recipe seems tastier to you than ever before in your whole life. Maybe it's on account of when you're shivering in the wind and everything, you keep going over in your mind how grateful a nip is going to taste later on. Well anyways it never disappoints you.

After all—the rules of tastiness we go by in making this personal recipe of ours were gotten up by our family way back when Grandpa Wilken was distilling. So you can just imagine all the little odd bits we've picked up regarding ways of making a whiskey specially mild and tasty. Next time you're out in the cold, just think about it. It's as lovely as the smell of a Sunday dinner cooking when you're hungry!

Travelers Aid to Have Benefit at Ice Carnival

BY JUDITH CASS.

TWO dozen women and two men met yesterday afternoon for tea at the Arts club to complete plans for a benefit on Thursday, Feb. 17, for the Travelers' Aid society. The brave men are Dr. Howard B. Carroll and Harry Radix. Dr. Carroll is a director of the society and also on the staf of the Passavant hospital, which benefited from a similar affair last winter. He told the women not only about the work of the Travelers' Aid, but about his enthusiasm for the particular sort of benefit the committee has planned.

The benefit is to be the gala opening of an ice carnival at the Chicago Arena. The women's aid society of the Passavant Memorial hospital sponsored the opening night of the Arena's ice carnival last January and it was a sold-out event. So the Travelers Aid directors hope to balance their budget after Feb. 17.

Mr. Radix is president of the Chicago Figure Skating club. He told the committee about the carnival in which many of the noted skaters of the world will take part. Hedy Stenuf, 15 years old, of Vienna, who will skate in Stockholm on Feb. 5 and 6, is sailing on the Aquitania on Feb. 9 and will be here for the carnival; a dozen or more Canadian amateur stars are coming from Toronto, and in addition there will be our own Robin Lee and numerous other skilled Chicago skaters, seniors and juniors.

Present Plans Assure Spectacular Event.

The painted ice and colored lights that made last year's carnival so spectacular will be used again, of course, and many new effects are being worked out to make this year's event more beautiful than last year's. After the carnival, which will start at 8:30 o'clock and end about 11, there will be an hour of general skating without any further charge except for wardrobe.

Mrs. Lauren J. Drake is general chairman of the benefit committee; Miss Martha Borland is box chairman; Miss Eleanor Roberts, ticket chairman; Mrs. F. Harney Bassett and Mrs. Nathaniel Owings, co-chairmen of publicity; Mrs. Louis Hardin, Lake Forest, chairman, and Mrs. Albert N. Williams, Winnetka, chairman. Mrs. Loyal Davis has agreed to serve in an advisory capacity.

The committee has opened an office at 644 North Michigan avenue, telephone Superior 5796, to handle the sale of tickets. The Chicago Travelers' Aid is one of a national chain of ninety-four societies established to help people who meet trouble while away from home, including Chicagoans stranded elsewhere. Last year it gave assistance to 84,974 persons, including 3,024 children under 16 and 641 runaways who were helped to return home.

Opera Guild Show to Aid Settlement.

The young women who are in charge of the Feb. 14 performance in the Auditorium theater of the Salzburg Opera guild, which will be a benefit for the Eli Bates Settlement house, also are going about the business of selling tickets in a professional way. They have opened an office at 612 North Michigan avenue. Miss Carol Bush, president, or Mrs. Robert McKenna is there every morning from 9 until 1 to answer the telephone, the number of which is Delaware 7370.

Some of those who already have taken boxes and are planning dinner parties to precede the performance are Mr. and Mrs. Sewell L. Avery, the Charles S. Deweys, the Robert E. Woods, the William Spencers, the James Ward Thornes, the Howard Fentons, the Robert J. Dunhams, the Huntington B. Henrys, the Philip, the Charles, and the Gustavus Swifts.

Lange to Conduct Chamber Music.

Monday night in the foyer of Orchestra hall about 300 of Chicago's music lovers will gather at the invitation of Hans Lange, associate conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, to hear him and his newly formed chamber music ensemble.

The ensemble consists of sixteen men from the ranks of the orchestra and the program that night is an interesting one, including as it does H. J. Rigel's Sinfonie, Johann Christian Bach's Concerto for Piano and String Orchestra, with Jane Anderson playing the piano; Joseph Haydn's symphony, 'Maria Teresa"; Tansman's Sinfonietta, and Hindemith's Chamber Music No. 1.

Some of those who have accepted Mr. Lange's invitation are the Bruce Borlands, Mrs. Clyde M. Carr, Mrs.

Shops Make It Easy to Collect Travel Outfit

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Selecting a good travel wardrobe is as simple as assembling any other sort of a wardrobe these days of flying from winter to summer. It all depends upon where you're going and how much money you have to spend. If you're bound for an afternoon of winter sports go aboard in your ski clothes, carrying the extras over your shoulder.

If you're bound for a midwinter vacation you travel in a costume that you wear for any daytime occasion and pack the rest of your loot in featherweight airplane baggage. Silk prints are teamed with thin wool coats; dark blue or black dresses are mixed with contrasting wool plaid or check coats.

One piece dresses with dazzling bright accessories go anywhere. There are the clothes you wear for ordinary daytime hours; dresses that are good wherever you go. Dark prints with bright accessories and flattering brimmed hats; coats that are firm without being bulky or heavy, and suits that can be worn with extra coats are ideal travel togs going north or south. Adaptability for weather, distance and destination is stressed for all new models.

The designers offer airplane pajamas and robes, dark colored stuff, tailored simply, and made of materials that take the punishment of packing. Huge handbags and fitted cases that will hold all your travel and vacation gadgets are available in the newest travel luggage showings; compact stuff with lavish assortments of slits and pockets so that everything is in place.

Evening clothes designed for skyline travelers feature lace, soft silk prints and the newest crush-resistant linen, most of these boast boleros that can be worn with other daytime or evening gowns. These, too, are made of thin materials and bright contrast colors. Nearly every shop and store in town has new ideas for airplane wardrobes.

Jim Dandy.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The woman who created this good looking and simple pieced block must have been up on her Webster because this design is a perfect "Jim Dandy." It is intriguing and not the least bit difficult to set together. In the nine inch squares a combination of printed and plain materials is used. The pieced blocks are set together, forming an all-over design, and are finished with a one-half inch bias binding for a border. The over-all dimensions of the coverlet are 90 by 108 inches, an ideal size for a spread.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Black is recognized by the fashion experts as being the eternally "good" color. A new idea in fragrances and their use has brought forth a perfume to be worn only with black; a perfume as tireless and as subtle as black itself.

There's a good deal more than a fashion tieup in the introduction of a perfume to wear with black. As it happens, the perfume is a vastly exciting one that deserves a wider audience than the wearers of black.

The perfume is a light oriental. Not every woman will choose it, especially those whose tastes run to nice but innocuous scents. This, while it's nice, can't by any stretch of the imagination be described as innocuous. It isn't a heady perfume, but our own experience with it was to have its charm grow on us.

It is, in your perfume wardrobe, what that "good black dress" is among all your other clothes—a dress you never weary of, one that is suitable for wear all around the clock and one that tides you over all moments of indecision with infinite satisfaction. This is a perfume you'll like as much with your tailored black suit as with your always good black velvet.

In the original size this perfume is one of the startling packages of the year; the bottle is sooty black crystal, boxed in a chest lined with brilliant blue satin. The outside is candy striped in the same electric blue. However, at least one shop is selling it by the dram, which is a great help to those of us who must be gentle with the pocketbook and who must live with a perfume for a while before we are absolutely certain it's our true love.

If you're getting awfully tired of your black fur coat, your black hats and your winter dresses [this is an annual midwinter ailment most of us know] try a bit of this perfume to give you new sparkle. It can do that. And it does, in some mysterious fashion, seem to dramatize the clothes you wear.

Music History Students Learn Role of Discord

BY EDWARD BARRY.

For the final Thorne hall event of its history and enjoyment of music course, University college of Northwestern university enlisted last evening the services of Rudolph Ganz, important Chicago pianist and teacher.

In a lecture-recital entitled "Welcome Dissonance" Mr. Ganz demonstrated to the satisfaction of all concerned the antiquity of discord as an expressive device, presenting startling examples from the works of composers as old as Rameau and as completely off the revolutionary track as Verdi. Various modern uses of dissonance were explained by reference to the products of a dozen contemporary composers.

The lecture-recital was mostly lecture, but given so persuasively and salted with so much humor that interest remained high throughout all of its generous length.

A miniature recital at the close of the evening offered works by Ganz, Bartok, Blanchet, and Debussy. Mr. Ganz archly explained the inclusion of his own pieces by citing the fact that they were not played very often.

Although the Thorne hall series is at an end, Northwestern still has two Auditorium theater events on its schedule. This Sunday come Vronsky and Babin, duo-pianists; a week after them the Salzburg Opera guild in a performance of Mozart's "Cosi fan Tutte."

"Ballet Fedré," a dance bill produced by the Federal Theater project, opens a ten day engagement at the Great Northern theater tonight. Five dance compositions make up the program: "Renaissance" and "Viennese Trilogy," both by Grace and Kurt Graff "Midsummer Triptych" and "Two Cautionary Tales and a Moral," both by Berta Ochsner, and "L'Ag'ya," a Haitian dance drama by Katherine Dunham.

Critic Shouts Her Praises of Print Display

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

We should have a hunting horn to wind in honor of the exhibit of color aquatints from the collection of Mrs. James Ward Thorne now on view in the Donnelley galleries, 350 East Cermak road.

Color aquatints is such a cold and technical term. It does not give the slightest impression of the wealth of beauty and humor that the exhibit embraces.

Hear ye! Hear ye! Hear ye! For all lovers of the ridiculous, of wit, good riding, horses, and hounds! For all lovers of beautiful rooms with suave and polished interiors, of great castles and dignified cathedrals! For all lovers of beautiful water color and entrancing illustrations! An exhibition has been arranged and is now current which will satisfy each and every one of your desires.

That and not the mere cold "color aquatint" announcement is what should start a story on this irresistible exhibition.

Mrs. James Ward Thorne is the same Mrs. Thorne whose exquisite miniature rooms are such an attraction at the Art institute. Other of her rooms are on view in the Chicago Historical society and, as we all know, one of them is in a British museum in London.

But this exhibit in the Donnelley galleries does not concern itself with rooms except in so far as water colors by J. Nash depict in profuse and intriguing detail the wonders and splendors of a number of English mansions. Any one of them would serve as an inspiration or model for a miniature room.

But beyond these are the superlatively clever and amusing water colors of Rowlandson, John Leech, George Cruikshank, Phiz [who was christened Hablot K. Browne], and Henry Alken. It is when these are encountered that we think of the lovers of good hunting, the lovers of sport with horse and hound.

And with them, too, are we concerned with the witty situation, the naive comicality of natural situations where men and women play the rôle of clown but not too obviously. These artists stroked in their effects with a thin bladed rapier and the effects are the better for it.

For rich laughter, hearty cheer, for thrills, for a chance to relax in an atmosphere of the absolutely best, thank this exhibit. It is superb.

Makeup mirrors, indirectly lighted, are no longer luxurious. We saw some the other day that can be bought on the slenderest budget, and they are nicely styled and well made, too. They are quite small, but adequate, and the mirror can be tilted at any angle you wish.

Surrounding the mirror is translucent glass which diffuses the light set behind it. This makes a light that is easy on the eyes and yet strong enough for makeup purposes. A 40 watt bulb is all that is required.

These makeup mirrors are available in white and silver or in light turquoise and white. They cost only a little over a dollar.

Ask Yourself These Queries About Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

This is the important time to put a few questions to yourself, letting your answers be cue to the rest of your 1938 behavior.

Why, you should ask yourself if the cap fits, do I continue ignoring the skin blemishes that stand in the way of a good complexion? How much longer am I going to go on ignoring the need of getting rid of blackheads and their frequent followers-up, pimples? Why do I keep on looking in the mirror at my muddy skin when, if I got busy, and weren't afraid to scrub the skin and splash barrels of cold water on it to stir up the circulation, I wouldn't fear the strong daylight?

Why do I continue talking about how uncomfortable it is to be crowded at the waistline? Why don't I slenderize it? Why don't I send for those hip-reducing exercises instead of putting it off day after day? Why do I listen to my husband or my boy friend talking about how Miss or Mrs. Somebody keeps her figure, and don't make a move to take off my 20 or 25 plus?

Why don't I stop the graying that I regret so by giving the scalp and hair greater daily care? Why don't I brush it, as I know that this is the best mechanical massage known? Why don't I, instead of never letting the brush get to the scalp, rely entirely on the offices of the shampoo operator for a semi-monthly stirring up of the scalp circulation? Why am I such a dummy as to think that live, glossy, fine looking hair can be produced on a scalp that never gets a bit of encouragement to dispense, through the glands beneath it, the oil that is my hair's life and beauty?

Why haven't I practiced better posture? When I see women walking beautifully and envy them so, why don't I take to exercises that will make me lighter-footed, straighter-spined and younger looking? Why don't I? O, why don't I?

And why don't I correct those nervous, jittery habits of speech and gesture that I have? I know every year they will become worse if I don't do something about them right now.

GUNHAMMERED GOLD

By Luke Short

[Copyright: 1938: By Frederick Dilley Glidden.]

SYNOPSIS.

Poco St. Vrain arrives in the western town of Christian City, escaping a pursuing troop of cavalry. There Two-Way Hornbeck approaches him with a scheme. Abe McCandless, who framed Poco and made an outlaw of him, owns a gold mine on a mountain peak. Two insurance agents sent to meet at the mine and bring down the gold are murdered by two different bands of outlaws. Two-Way persuades Poco to pose as one of the agents, Jake Finger, whose papers he has, and get the gold. At the mountain camp Poco finds Espey Cardowan, killer gunman, posing as the other agent. They dare not give each other away to Shayne, the mine manager, and his lovely daughter, Kate. On their way down the mountain with the gold Cardowan crowds Poco off the cliff.

INSTALMENT X.

RIVAL BANDS MEET.

Cardowan flipped his cigaret away and examined the trail. Not a trace remained except for a loose rock to show that a man and horse had gone over the edge. He took the pack mule by the lead rope and started off down the trail, and now he was whistling.

All that afternoon as he treaded his precipitous way to safety, he kept thinking of the gold back there. It was his—or rather, it would soon be his. He had no idea of splitting it with that collection of saddle bums down below that had sided him off and on for years. The first chance he got he would sell them out to a bounty hunting sheriff for his own freedom. Then wealth, land, cattle, women, wines, guns, horses, saddles—anything he wanted, and all of it he wanted. It would take a little cunning to swing it, but he had it.

When he swung into the last long stretch of trail before hitting the boulder fields below, it was getting late. He looked down over this gray and broken expanse and could see nothing, not a man. It puzzled and angered him at the same time. Had those damned fools got some whisky and drunk themselves into forsaking their guard? They had orders to post a tight guard at the place where the trail ended, and yet there was not a man to be seen.

He wondered about the lookout he had stationed a couple of yards up the trail. Would this man be drunk, too?

And then he remembered Poco's brazen confidence and he stopped short. Had Poco really had men down here all the time? In a frantic hurry, Cardowan edged back to his horse and got his guns from the bedroll and strapped them on.

He crouched now and made his way warily down the trail. Presently in a twist of it ahead he saw a man squatted behind a boulder. After a minute of careful scrutiny he recognized Stony Pierson, his lieutenant. He approached openly now and Stony upon hearing him turned and motioned him down. Almost on the heel of the gesture Cardowan heard a rifle below him slash the silence and a slug chipped some rock far overhead.

He crawled to Stony, a squat, heavy man with a blue-black stubble of beard bulged out in one cheek by a wad of tobacco. He was squatted on his heels, a rifle across his knees, and there was a grim smile on his face as he watched Cardowan approach.

"What is it?" Cardowan asked when he was in the shelter of the boulder.

"Where are the boys?" Cardowan asked swiftly.

"Forted up behind rocks same as Two-Way." This news given, Stony asked, "Where's Poco?"

"Dead. I got rid of him."

"Get the gold?"

"Up the trail around the bend."

Stony cursed now, too. "Well, boss," he said finally, "it looks like we split it. Two-Way's got a circle of men throwed around our bunch down there and we'll have to run them before we get away."

"Have you talked to him?"

Stony made a wry face. "He's talked to us. It's a two-way split, he says, or he'll stick until the men come down from the camp in behind us. We'll play hell gettin' away then."

Cardowan nodded, scowling.

"Leave it to Poco," Cardowan said bitterly. "That little pack of poison thought of everything."

"Not him," Stony answered. "This here was Two-Way's idea. He brung this bunch here to take it away from Poco. He said so hisself."

Cardowan cursed again in a kind of futile fury. Two-Way had him; there was no doubt about it. He knew Two-Way, knew him in person and by reputation, and a more slippery crook never existed.

He said, "We've got to parley with Two-Way."

Stony thought so, too, but he added, "Let me go down. If Two-Way could hide behind a rock and cut down on you he would."

Cardowan saw the truth in this. Between them they dug up a soiled white handkerchief to use as a flag. "Get him out in the open," Cardowan said, after Stony had waved the flag tied on the end of his rifle barrel. "I'll go out, too, at the same time. If any one cuts down on me, you can get him. And if you have to," he added, "gut shoot him and leave him."

Stony smiled narrowly. "Yeah. We've had a taste of that gut shootin' already. Kirk is lying down there with a hole in his belly now."

Cardowan nodded somberly. Stony rose in full view and he did not draw a fire. Cardowan watched as he walked down the trail into the boulder field and stopped short. From behind a close boulder another man rose and came out to him, but the man was not Two-Way. After a minute of parley Stony turned and waved to him.

Cardowan rose and walked down the trail. Two-Way was already standing erect a hundred yards away and the two men began to approach each other.

Cardowan could see most of his men now and he was careful to walk forward out of earshot of the nearest. Two-Way, dressed in his neat black and his white linen, took his time in coming and his half smile was visible a long way off. Cardowan leaned against a boulder and regarded him sourly.

"So it's you," he said easily. "Where's Poco?"

"I took care of him," Cardowan drawled.

Two-Way stared at him. "You're a liar," he said calmly. "You couldn't."

"He's lying with a broken back up in one of those canyons. Do you see him with me?"

Two-Way shook his head, puzzled. "You mean you killed him?"

"Pushed him over along with his horse."

Two-Way whistled low in exclamation. "Was he drunk?"

"Listen," Cardowan said flatly, "Poco St. Vrain didn't have to be drunk to take a beating. He was scared. He crawled. He begged me, pled with me, offered to throw in with me. He was yellow and he got what a yellow coyote had coming."

Two-Way observed dryly. "He must be dead, then. You wouldn't talk that way if he was alive."

Cardowan's face turned a shade darker and he cursed Two-Way, who regarded him with patient attentiveness. When Cardowan was finished Two-Way shrugged. "Well, you did me a favor. Now let's get down to business. Are those two mules up there packing the gold?"

Cardowan nodded.

"All right. I'll go away for one of them. Take your choice. It'll be a two-way split. If you don't agree I'll roost right here until Shayne and his men come down off the mountain. That won't be very funny with men in front of you and men behind you."

Cardowan said it was agreeable to him, adding with a trace of admiration in his voice, "Nothing much gets past you, does it Two-Way?"

Two-Way said nothing, only looked at him.

"Wouldn't you rather have the whole share than have to split it?"

Two-Way smiled now. "Those are words all right, but they don't make sense."

"Throw in with me and they might."

Two-Way was already shaking his head. "I wouldn't trust you in the same county with me."

"And I wouldn't trust you in the same territory with me if I could help it," Cardowan said. "We're both poison to each other. Every one of these men thinks that. Wouldn't it be a surprise if it turned out different?"

Two-Way was attentive now. He told him to go on.

Tossing Baby Around Apt to Be Injurious

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

There are many grandmothers, not to mention loving aunts and innumerable mothers, who will read with sympathetic wincing the following letter:

"My dear Mrs. Bevans:

"Please advise me about the following. We have a year and a half old baby in our family whom we all adore. Some of our men folk when playing with the tot like to catch him by both wrists and swing him around in the air, much to the baby's delight. They laugh at me because I'm afraid the practice might lead to injury of the shoulder joints. Am I right or am I just an over protective and foolishly fond grandmother?

"I would appreciate a reply from you."

You are absolutely right and not an over protective and foolishly fond grandmother. This is harmful, and the fact that the baby may gurgle and laugh with the exhilaration of the motion has nothing to do with it. Babies and little children laugh when they're tickled, but that doesn't mean it's good for them. Any one who is old enough to protest against tickling knows that in spite of reflex laughter it can be a kind of torture. It isn't good for a child to be tickled nor is it good for a child to be caught by the wrists and swung around. It is not good for the baby's body structure; it has elements of danger and it is distinctly over exciting.

You can't take these chances with a young body. A gentle rough and tumble on a big bed, a carefully calculated masculine firmness graded, we might say, to the baby's age, these are enough. Men folk have a notion that a boy has to get used to roughness early in order to be manly and hold his own.

"Physical Care of Babies and Children of All Ages" is the name of a leaflet of reading references helpful to parents. It will be sent out on receipt of a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Bride Unwise Running Home to Her Mother

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Because I was bitterly angry at the time, I ran back to my home and told my parents things about my husband that they will not forget. Being an only child of indulgent parents, I can see why they cannot forgive or forget. The incident is causing me endless unhappiness, and I'll tell why, because it may save other young married women from making my mistake.

"I have forgotten the stinging words of that fight of ours. I see now I deserved everything he was man enough to tell me. But because I reported the incident to my parents, since they were included in my man's condemnation of my bringing up, they have remained furious, and just the other night, when all was peaceful between my husband and me, they threw the words up to him. One never tells the honest truth when he relates what another has said, because one does not tell what he said or did to drive the second person into a temper. That was my case. In order to make myself out the innocent victim I exaggerated my so-called tormentor's vices."

So Babs honestly confesses her own unfortunate conduct in a lover's quarrel. Yes, she loves her man and the last thing on earth she wants is to lose him. But it rankles deeply with him that she would betray him as a monster to her family.

There's a good old axiom intended to fit just such an incident of misunderstanding or difficulty between a young married pair. It reads to the effect that running back home to mother is child's behavior and should have no place in the life of an adult old enough to be married. It is a situation that occurs more frequently than is commonly suspected.

House Frock Easy to Wear

WOMAN'S AND MISS' HOME FROCK.

This trim house dress is easy to put on and take off, and even easier to make. It is cut in one from shoulder to hem and, when you wear it, simply put it on as you would a coat, fasten the belt in the back, and there you are!

The garment has a convertible neckline. You may have it V with wide surplice revers, or it may be high with a pert tailored collar. Two pockets may be used, one on the waist and another on the right side of the skirt. These pockets may be adorned with bright applique, for which embroidery pattern No. E-700 provides beautifully. It is available for 10 cents extra.

Either ruffling or bias binding may trim the neckline, pockets, sleeves, and front flap, depending upon how dressy you want the garment to be.

All types of washable silks and cottons will make up effectively. Dark shades are especially suitable at this time of year, and they really should be trimmed with a lighter shade for the cake of contrast.

Style No. 2754 is designed for sizes 16, 18, and 20 years, and 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 4⅛ yards of 39 inch material, with 4¼ yards of ruffling.

Give Hominy a Break, Cooks! It's Useful

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Hominy isn't as popular a food as it deserves to be. It makes a fine breakfast cereal or meat accompaniment in lieu of potatoes, and it may be used in dozens of double boiler and oven baked dishes.

There are two types of hominy—grits which may be ground finely or coarsely or flaked, and whole hominy, which is white flint corn with hulls removed. Canned whole hominy, sometimes called samp, may be purchased to serve as a vegetable with butter and seasonings.

HOMINY GRITS.

Soak the grits in lukewarm water over night, or for several hours, and then place in the top of a double boiler. Cook for 1½ to 2 hours over boiling water. Season and serve plain as breakfast cereal or shape into cakes and sauté in butter to serve as a meat accompaniment. A beaten egg to 2 cups of hominy will make the cakes more flavorful.

Peach Hominy Pudding.
[Serves six.]

- 2 cups cooked hominy grits
- 1 cup milk
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- 6 drained canned peach halves
- ½ cup cream, whipped

Combine hominy, milk, and nutmeg and beat until smooth. Add eggs and sugar. Heat in the top of a double boiler, stirring constantly. Add vanilla. Place peach halves in buttered baking dish and pour the hominy mixture over them. Set the baking dish in a pan of hot water and bake at 350 degrees, moderate heat, until the pudding is firm, about 1 hour. Serve hot with whipped cream sweetened with sirup from canned peaches.

Hominy soufflé is a dish similar to the southern spoon bread made with cornmeal.

Hominy Soufflé.
[Serves six.]

- 1 cup cooked hominy grits
- ½ cup hot milk
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon paprika
- 3 eggs, beaten separately

Beat together with a fork the cold hominy and the hot milk. Mix until smooth. Add seasonings. Stir in the beaten egg yolks and fold in the whites, which have been beaten until stiff. Place in a greased baking dish and set in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 30 minutes. Serve alone or with tomato or cheese sauce.

CANNED HOMINY.

Heat the hominy in its own liquor and season slightly with salt and pepper, or drain off the liquor and heat the hominy in cream. Serve with butter or gravy as a meat accompaniment instead of potatoes. Canned hominy may be served hot with scrambled eggs for a breakfast dish.

Canned hominy may be used like cooked macaroni in any baked dish. Cheese or tomatoes improve the flavor of a baked hominy dish.

[Serves four.]

- 2 cups canned hominy
- ½ cup grated cheese
- Salt, pepper
- 1 cup thin white sauce
- Toasted crums, buttered

Alternate hominy and cheese in a greased baking dish, seasoning each layer of hominy with salt and pepper. Pour the white sauce over the combination, cover with crums, and bake at 350 degrees for half an hour. A thin white sauce is made by using 1 tablespoon flour, 1 tablespoon butter, and ¼ teaspoon salt to 1 cup of milk.

Hospital Auxiliary.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

My proudest boast is that I am "easy on partners." I lay no claim to a cherubic nature. Indeed, I have been informed on countless occasions that my disposition would grace only specified cages in the zoo. But these occasions were not concerned with bridge! It always has seemed to me abysmally stupid to bullyrag or upset a partner. Whether he is a good or a bad player, I want his best game. How can I get it if I don't keep him in unruffled spirits?

There is one thing, however, that a partner can do to upset me and cause me to lose my professional good nature. That is to bid an unbiddable suit, particularly when it is quite unnecessary!

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 heart	2 diamonds
3 diamonds	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

This bidding, which actually was produced by one of the so-called better teams in a recent New York duplicate, is reported only so that I can say what I think of it. Of course I am somewhat constrained by the high standards of the Fourth Estate, but the most cultured newspaper will, I think, permit me to say that it was lousy. A cold small slam was tossed out of the window solely as a result of South's first response. If this were an isolated case of a player picking an unbiddable suit just to be fancy, it would not be worth mentioning. Unfortunately, however, one meets a great many players who would make South's heart response. The theory seems to be that any one-over-one response, regardless of the biddability of the suit, is preferable to a simple raise or a no trump take-out. South had a perfectly normal two club response and, had he made it, it would have been a simple matter for North to have reached the correct contract of six clubs. Once informed that clubs would be the best final contract, North would have had no fear in using the four-five no trump convention to locate a possible ace in South's hand. A five spade answer from South would have made matters automatic.

On the actual heart response North was completely tied up. Over West's two diamonds he made the strongest response he could afford. But then, when South bid four clubs North could not risk the four-five no trump convention. Remember, he was playing duplicate, not rubber bridge!

The hand might well make the same number of tricks in hearts as in clubs and, even if five clubs could be made to only four hearts, the latter would still return a better match point score. Thus, all North could do, having cue bid the diamond suit, was to bid four hearts, and now South was equally tied up. With his miserable holding he was afraid of five clubs. North never had rebid the suit and might actually be short. Having thrown a monkey wrench in the machinery in the form of his original one heart response, South now had to pass and hope for the best. He succeeded in making four hearts, but this was not very good, compared with the six clubs that were a laydown.

JERGENS LOTION

STORY OF CITY'S GROWTH IS TOLD IN A TAX RETURN

Porter Estate Is Valued at $1,477,000.

Far sighted Amos Foster, a lieutenant at Fort Dearborn when Chicago was young, bought some town lots when the city was incorporated. Thus he founded a fortune. A portion of that fortune was valued at $1,477,236 yesterday in an inheritance tax return filed in the County court.

Lieut. Foster died and left his town lots to his brother, Dr. John H. Foster, pioneer Chicago surgeon. Dr. Foster developed the property, became a wealthy man, even in his day. He was a member of the first city school board, serving from 1857 to 1867. Foster avenue was named after him.

3 Daughters Share Fortune.

When he died in 1874 Dr. Foster divided his fortune among three daughters, Mrs. Julia Foster Porter, Mrs. Perkins Bass, and Mrs. George E. Adams. At their deaths, Mrs. Bass and Mrs. Adams willed their property to their children.

Mrs. Porter, the last of the three sisters, died on Aug. 23, 1936, at the age of 90. Earlier she had given some of her land outright to her son, James F. Porter, 1085 Sheridan road, Winnetka, but she placed most of her holdings in trust, enjoying the income during her lifetime.

Her trust estate now goes to her son and his five children, Edward C. of Chicago, Fairfield W. of Winnetka, Mrs. Nancy P. Straus of Washington, D. C., Eliot F. of Cambridge, Mass., and John F. of Bronxville, N. Y.

The inheritance tax return on Mrs. Porter's estate, filed yesterday, lists $336,026 in personal property and buildings at 223 Washington street, 312 Madison street, 125 North Wabash avenue, and 227 South Wells street. Her estate is subject to a federal tax of $274,335 and a state tax of $41,439.

E. J. Buffington Estate.

An inventory filed yesterday disclosed the estate of Eugene J. Buffington, former president of the Illinois Steel company, who died last month, is worth $3,023,000. It includes $1,939,000 in federal treasury notes, $177,000 in federal bonds, $700,000 in municipal bonds, and the following stocks: United States Steel, 678 shares common, worth $37,035; 793 preferred, $86,519, and 364 common Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, $35,672.

The net valuation of the estate of Mrs. Albert D. Lasker will be raised $492,863 when a return is filed for taxing purposes in the Lake county court at Waukegan, it was disclosed last night by Philip W. Yager of Waukegan, special appraiser. This will increase the state inheritance tax from the $79,301 originally estimated to $171,990. The net valuation is $1,852,101. The gross valuation is $2,675,865.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—Helge Roswaenge and Willy Domgraf-Fassbender, stars of the Berlin opera, are appearing in a film sponsored by the Nezi party to urge the German population not to waste junk.

Citizens are told in the film "not to burn old newspapers or destroy seemingly worthless household refuse such as rags, bones, and other remnants.

The film is called "The Century Will Bear Loss with Difficulty."

It was ordered made by the "national commissar for the exploitation of old material in the office of the four year plan [for economic self-sufficiency]."

CULBERTSONS PARTED BY DIVORCE, BUT STILL BRIDGE PLAYING TEAM

Reno, Nev., Jan. 26.—(AP)—The Ely Culbertsons, who formed a business partnership to win fortune and fame from contract bridge, were divorced today, but they planned to continue working together in the field of their favorite game.

Mrs. Culbertson, the former Josephine Murphy, obtained a final decree on grounds of mental cruelty. She said her business partnership with Culbertson would not be affected.

"We are still very friendly," she insisted, "and we expect to continue to work together."

A few weeks ago, in New York, she said the sole cause for the suit was her husband's ultratemperamental moods.

GIVE KIDNAPERS ADDED SENTENCE FOR JAIL BREAK

Binghamton, N. Y., Jan. 26.—(AP)—A federal jury this afternoon found John J. Oley, Percy Geary, and Harold Crowley, convicted O'Connell kidnapers, guilty of having escaped Nov. 16 from Onondaga county penitentiary.

Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey sentenced Oley and Geary to five years imprisonment and Crowley to three and one-half years. The sentences are to begin upon expiration of the prison sentences imposed on the trio last summer when they, with five others, were convicted of the 1933 kidnaping of John J. O'Connell Jr. of Albany.

For the kidnaping Oley and Geary were sentenced to serve seventy-seven years in a federal penitentiary. Crowley drew a 28 year sentence.

SHILL JOINS HAWKS; FACES WINGS TONIGHT

ARMOUR TECH, 2 PARKS ENTER GOLDEN GLOVES

Sectional Fields May Reach 1,000.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Team entries for the Golden Gloves sectional tournaments in Chicago were received yesterday from Armour Tech, Franklin park, and Madden park of the Chicago park district. These boys will be mailed instructions today to report for their physical examinations Monday evening at Trafton's gymnasium, 180 West Randolph street.

Dr. William Rothman.

Golden Gloves is no novelty to either Franklin park or Armour Tech which have entered teams in previous tournaments. Sonny Weissman, Armour coach, and Danny Spunt, coach at Franklin park, always point their squads for Golden Gloves. Both also have a schedule of dual meets with other schools and park teams.

Six Open Entries.

Six of the boys from Franklin park, Fred Penny, middleweight; Willie Kline and Sam Malmed, featherweights; Eddie Lander and David Schimmel, bantamweights, and Oscar Ginsberg, flyweight, will fight in the open division. These boys will be eligible, if they qualify in the list of thirty-two, for competition in the Tournament of Champions which opens Feb. 28 at the Chicago Stadium. Fourteen boxers will represent Franklin park in the novice tournaments.

The boxers who will compete for Armour Tech are Tom Clark, middleweight; Ernest J. Colant and Walter S. Collins, lightweights; Robert J. McMahon Jr., welterweight, and Milton C. Koester, bantamweight.

Malcolm Christian, instructor at Madden park, has submitted the names of eleven boxers. All will compete in the novice tournaments.

Expect 1,000 to Qualify.

All boxers filing entries today will be mailed letters to report at Trafton's gym Monday evening between 6 and 8 p. m. for examinations. Letters received after today and postmarked before midnight Sunday, when entries close, will be filed for the examination on Feb. 4 at Trafton's. This will complete the lists of boxers for the four Chicago tournaments, the first of which will start at the Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison street, on Feb. 9.

Approximately one thousand boys are expected to have reported and passed their medical examinations by Feb. 4. Each will have been examined by one of the staf of twelve physicians associated with The Tribune Charities, Inc. The list of doctors who assume this major responsibility, follows:

Dr. William Rothman, Dr. Harold Marsh, Dr. Clarence T. Plaut, Dr. Ernest R. Stoehr, Dr. Edward R. Rategan, Dr. George W. Andrew, Dr. John C. Wall, Dr. J. V. Russell, Dr. James Walsh, Dr. Ernest D. Ponzer, Dr. Philip R. McGuire, and Dr. James M. Wall.

This preliminary examination, while it probably will result in disqualification of from 5 to 7 per cent of the contestants for various causes, is only a part of the program for protection of the contestants.

Two Examinations Necessary.

No boy is permitted to box until he has passed a second and more rigorous examination on the day he reports at his sectional tournament. Reasons for disqualification are not always serious. Frequently the contestant would be running only a slight risk of injury, but the physicians refuse to permit any boy to take a chance, no matter how slight the risk.

Contestants are immediately examined after each bout in which the contest was stopped on the referee's order. And, of course, each boy is examined again before he enters the ring a second time. No boy is permitted to box more than twice in one evening, which makes a maximum of twelve minutes fighting only.

This same group of physicians also is responsible for the physical examinations given prior to the Tournament of Champions.

Elgin Sectional Tonight.

Among the tournaments now in action preparing the more than two score of teams which will compete in Chicago Feb. 28, March 1 and 2 is the Elgin, Ill., sectional tonight and tomorrow night. Seventy-five boys will fight at Elgin and the winners then will go to Rockford, Ill., where the Rockford champions will be chosen for the Tournament of Champions.

IT'S MR. TERRY'S FEUD—OR WAS; NOW MR. DEAN'S IN

"I think Terry's article is the finest I've ever read," declared Dean, speaking of the New York manager's piece in the Saturday Evening Post.

"Understand," he amended quickly under Mrs. Dean's prompting, "I'm not taking a crack at sports writers—and I don't think Terry is, either—but I believe that Terry is absolutely right in refusing to allow any of his players to talk to a sports writer.

"I believe that sports writers should write the truth, and I believe they try to, but they shouldn't try to run the game.

"Sports writers have done a lot for baseball and they've done a lot for me, but they shouldn't try to run the business office and they shouldn't try to carry personal grudges into their writing."

SCHROEDER TIES FOR IOWA STATE SKATING HONORS

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Eddie Schroeder, Olympic ice skating star and former Chicago Silver Skates champion, tied for the senior men's skating championship of Iowa tonight. George Shimek of Cedar Rapids, scoring victories in the short races, tied with Schroeder at 90 points.

Bob Heckenbach of Chicago, 1938 senior Silver Skates champion, was fourth in the final rating of senior men with 20 points. Harry Morgan took third honors with 40 points. Marvin Thompson of Chicago tied for first place in the junior boys division with 60 points, the same total made by Sidney Weinstein of Minneapolis.

ROLLIN' HOME HAS NEW HABIT; WINS 4TH RACE IN FIVE

Mrs. Denemark Scores a Double.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Rollin' Home did it again—that is, he stepped up in company and once more emerged victorious—in the feature race at Hialeah Park this afternoon.

The victory of the 5 year old gelding, which only a few weeks ago could have been claimed for $1,500, was his fourth in five starts during the Florida racing season. The other time Rollin' Home, owned by Mrs. G. H. Emick, ran second.

Wins by Three Lengths.

This afternoon the chestnut came out for the Class A handicap and was pitted against such horses as Fraidy Cat, Finance, Drowsy, and Stubbs at the seven furlong distance.

Rollin' Home was winner by three lengths. Fraidy Cat had rather an easy time getting second by a length and a half over Finance.

The winner went to the post the favorite. The totalizator return was $4.80 for $2.00. The purse to the winner was $1,100. The Class B handicap winner was Mrs. Emil Denemark's Orientalist, which gave her a double for the afternoon. In Class C Mrs. R. Sullivan's Black River was first. The Denemark double was begun by Bomar in the third race.

Five Lengths for Orientalist.

Notre Dame to Face Michigan in Four Sports

Notre Dame, Ind., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Notre Dame and Michigan will meet in baseball twice, in golf, in tennis, and in track this spring. The spring sports schedules were announced today by Director of Athletics Elmer F. Layden. The track schedule showed the Irish and Wolverines meeting April 23 in a quadrangular event with Indiana and Ohio State at Bloomington.

The first baseball game will be played at Ann Arbor May 19, and the return game May 21 at Notre Dame. The track meet will mark the first competition between the two institutions since the baseball season of 1924.

Tennis Coach Optimistic.

Although the team must play six of its ten matches within a space of eight days from April 30 to May 7, inclusive, Tennis Coach Pedro de Landero today predicted the Irish would have their first winning season in several campaigns. The golf team, runnerup for the national intercollegiate title last year, promises to be up to the usual high Notre Dame standard. The baseball team is back almost intact, fortified by several sophomore pitching prospects, and the track team is considered stronger than last year's.

Besides Michigan, California has been added to the Notre Dame baseball schedule. The schedules:

BASEBALL.

April 16—Chicago at Chicago. April 18-19—Ohio State at Columbus. April 25-26—Iowa at Notre Dame. April 30—Chicago at Notre Dame. May 3—Northwestern at Notre Dame. May 5—Western State at Notre Dame. May 7—Michigan State at East Lansing. May 10—Illinois at Notre Dame. May 14—Western State at Kalamazoo. May 17—Northwestern at Evanston. May 19—Michigan at Ann Arbor. May 21—Michigan at Notre Dame. May 24—Michigan State at Notre Dame. May 27-28—California at Notre Dame. June 3-4—Wisconsin at Notre Dame.

GOLF.

U. S. WOMEN LOSE TO CZECH TEAM IN TABLE TENNIS

LONDON, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The United States women's table tennis team lost the world championship Corbillon cup to Czechoslovakia's squad today as the group competition in the international tournament neared its end and the individual matches began.

After defeating Wales, 3 to 1, and France, 3 to 0, earlier in the day, the American women lost, 3 to 0, to the Czechoslovakians, who marched through their nine matches unbeaten to take the trophy the United States team won a year ago. England finished second with eight victories. The Americans wound up in a three way tie for fourth place with five victories in nine starts.

The United States men's team, routing Ireland, 5 to 0, remained in the running for the Swaythling cup, but Hungary's unbeaten squad remained the favorite. A playoff among the United States, English, and Austrian teams was found necessary to decide Hungary's opposition in the final round.

JOHN GOODMAN SUES AUTOIST IN FATHER'S DEATH

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 26. — Johnny Goodman of Omaha, national amateur golf champion, filed suit for $15,000 in District court here today against Edward H. Gallinagh, also of Omaha. The suit asked damages in the death of Goodman's father, William Goodman, resulting from automobile accident injuries Jan. 12.

The golfer, as special administrator of his father's estate, alleged in his petition his father died of injuries suffered when Gallinagh's car ran over the elder Goodman after another machine had knocked him down.

WITH A SLUGGER, PIRATES CAN WIN A TITLE—WANER

Paul Denies That He Is Holding Out.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Paul Waner, Pittsburgh outfielder and former National league batting champion, said today he wouldn't be surprised if the Pirates won the 1938 pennant—provided they get a powerhouse hitter for the cleanup spot.

"Give us a long distance hitter and we would go places this season," Waner said at lunch after losing in the semi-finals of the Biltmore left-handers golf tournament.

The Giants Didn't Help.

"Sure, we've got a good ball club," he said. "Our pitching staf may not be the best in the league but it's a good one. We have some pretty consistent hitters but what we need is some one in that four or five hole who can hit the ball with men on the sacks.

"Vaughan and Brubaker did a pretty fair job of that at times last year and when they did we were a mighty tough club to beat. As it was, if we could have had any luck against the Giants—they beat us sixteen out of twenty-two—we would have been lots better off. I don't think they can do that again this year."

Lee Handley, Pirate second baseman, echoed Waner's remarks.

First Contract—An Opening Bid.

"The first contract they send you," he said, "is sort of like the opening bid at an auction. They do that to make you feel you are not so good. If you accept that's just so much for them."

"Evidently then," he was asked, "they wanted to cut you?"

"They had," he said, "but I sent the contract right back. I don't think, however, there will be any trouble in coming to terms."

The Pirate slugger said he was convinced the rhythm of golf swinging had improved his batting.

PAUL WANER LOSES

Miami, Fla., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—J. L. Matthews, long hitting Miami printer, today spoiled the prospect of an all-baseball final in the Miami-Biltmore left-handers' golf tournament by defeating Paul Waner, Pittsburgh Pirates' outfielder and defending champion, 3 and 2, in one of today's semifinals.

Tomorrow Matthews, who was only four over par in his conquest of Waner, will meet the baseball clan's survivor, Lloyd Brown, Cleveland Indians' pitcher. Brown gained the title match with a 6 and 5 victory over Goose Goslin, former outfielder with Detroit and Washington. Brown had a 40 on the front nine.

CHICAGO BUYS SCORING EXPERT FROM NEW YORK

Cup Defenders Have Improved, Too.

Games Tonight

New York Rangers at Canadiens.
Detroit at Chicago.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Slapsey Bill Stewart and Singing Jack Adams tonight in Chicago Stadium will bring their Blackhawks and Red Wings together for the sixth time this season. Both skippers are desperate and will exhort their chattels to the utmost, what with the defending world champion Wings in the American division cellar and the Hawks so close to the pit they can hear echoes every time they holler.

If he follows precedent, Mr. Adams will have a few new fellows in hocky suits tonight. His team hasn't played two successive games with the same personnel so far this season. Mr. Stewart will have at least one new face for yesterday the Hawks purchased Left Wing Jack Shill from the New York Americans. Shill will check in this morning and will be assigned on a line with Earl Seibert and Cully Dahlstrom for tonight's endeavors.

He Can Hit That Net.

Shill, while with the Toronto Maple Leafs and the Boston Bruins, was a scoring caballero of great skill and accuracy. This season he has been in the Americans' doghouse for reasons not made known by Manager Red Dutton. Though playing irregularly, he has scored four points. The deal was made for Shill, it was announced, after the Hawks had been turned down on a $10,000 offer for a 29 year old forward, name not revealed.

We are bound to wax historical, but it seems a shame just now, for the Red Wings, miserable in the first half of the season, recently have romped to two victories, one of them at the expense of the Hawks, who thought they had a tie 71 seconds from the end of the game, only to emerge with a 4 to 2 spanking. It is perhaps more pleasant to relate that in the two games played in Chicago the Hawks have won, 3 to 1. Besides that 4 to 2 game in Detroit, there was a 4 to 1 setback for the Chicagoans and a 2-all tie.

But That Was Last Year.

At the end of the last two seasons the Wings not only were the Stanley cup winners but winners of the league championship by virtue of regular season supremacy. They haven't a chance to carry on this double distinction for a new record, but, through the vagaries of the playoff system existing in hocky, the Wings still have a chance to retain the Stanley cup. If they do retain it they will be the first to take it three years in a row.

If they lose tonight they will be two and one-half games out of third place in the American division and will have a tough time overtaking the third place Hawks on the basis of their remaining schedule, which will see the two teams hook up in only two more games. The schedules with other teams in the league present no more horrors for the Hawks than they do for the Wings, and the Wings must pass the Hawks to get in the playoff.

The Boys Are Ready.

The Hawks have been pointing for the Wing game since they put over a surprise victory against the Boston Bruins in the Stadium Sunday night. They have had three hard drills this week but were excused before they showed weariness.

The Hawk management, apparently resentful at widely circulated reports that exuberance over the Boston victory had slowed down the rebuilding campaign, yesterday pointed with pride to the aforesaid offer of $10,000 for an unnamed player, the purchase of Shill, and claims that it is offering fabulous sums for an experienced defense man, also unnamed. Tonight's lineups:

CHICAGO.		DETROIT.
Karakas	G	Smith
Levinsky	R. D.	Young
Wiebe	L. D.	McDonald
Dahlstrom	C.	Barry
Seibert	R. W.	Aurie
Shill	L. W.	Sorrell

AUSTIN WILL AID DYKES IN SPRING DRILL ON COAST

J. Louis Comiskey, president of the White Sox, announced yesterday that Jimmy Austin would assist Manager Jim Dykes in the spring training chores at Pasadena, Cal., during the month of March. Austin, who lives in California, has performed in a similar capacity the last two springs, prior to which he was one of the team's regular coaches. He resigned the position because of the illness of his wife.

The Cubs' office announced yesterday that signed contracts had been received from Bill Lee, Augie Galan, and Stanley Hack.

PEACE IS MADE; VON SCHACHT TO MEET NAGURSKI

Two Factions Sanction Match Feb. 8.

Bronko Nagurski, who recently recovered from a leg infection, and Fritz von Schacht, German heavyweight, have been matched to wrestle at the Coliseum Feb. 8. The match was agreed upon after the two rival organizations which control the game patched up their differences. Nagurski, championship claimant, competes under the direction of Tony Stecher and Pinkie George, and Von Schacht under the guidance of Ed White and Fred Kohler. The match is the first of a series expected to lead to a contest between Nagurski and Jim Londos at Chicago Stadium within the next few weeks.

Jimmy Clark, 1936 American Golden Gloves Olympic middleweight champion, and Elby Johnson yesterday were signed to meet in an eight round fight at Rainbo Fronton tomorrow. Art Oliver and Jack Fargo will appear in an eight round co-feature. Tom Kenneally, Catholic Youth organization heavyweight, has been substituted for the ailing Alex Kettles in a four rounder against Eddie Dykes. Other matches at four rounds will bring together Eddie Helstrom and Owen Woods, and Harry Frederickson and Johnny Rock. . . . King Levinsky will return from Detroit tonight for his mat headliner with Scotty Dawkins at Marigold Gardens tomorrow. Supporting matches will involve Cowboy Ackley and Charley Peterson, Vic Soldat and Husk Kewley, George Mack and Jim Jarris, and Cardiff Giant and Bob Jensen.

King Wyatt, former Chicago Golden Gloves welterweight title holder, who has scored sixteen knockouts in his twenty-nine professional appearances, will meet Frankie Kolborn of Waterloo, Ia., this week at South Bend, Ind., and Billy Merz of Toledo, O., Monday at Dayton. . . . William [Pep] Kerwin represented the Illinois boxing commission's staf of officials at the funeral yesterday of Mrs. Catherine Triner, mother of Chairman Joe Triner of the commission.

NORTHWESTERN BASKET SQUAD RESUMES DRILL

Purple Points for Game with Bradley.

Northwestern's first place basketball team resumed practice yesterday following a three day layoff during midyear examinations. Practice will be held to a minimum for another week until all of the players have completed their examinations.

The Wildcats, who wound up the first half of their Big Ten schedule with five victories and one defeat, will meet Bradley Tech of Peoria a week from Saturday before resuming their conference campaign.

Originally scheduled as a warmup game following examinations, the game with Bradley now takes on more serious proportions. The Peoria five is undefeated, boasting victories over Indiana, Nebraska, Utah, and St. Louis.

N. U. Hope Is Strengthened.

Northwestern faces the last half of its schedule with stronger hopes than when it inaugurated the Big Ten campaign a month ago. At that time the Wildcats had lost four consecutive practice games and appeared to have little chance of becoming a contender in the conference race.

After opening the Big Ten season with a 47 to 38 victory over Wisconsin, the Wildcats went on to defeat Iowa, Ohio State, and Indiana to jump into first place in the conference standings. After suffering their first loss of the race to Purdue, 37 to 26, the Purple came back to win a 30 to 29 decision over Michigan last Saturday night to retain the lead.

McMichael Is Ready.

The Wildcats will be fortified during the remainder of the race by the return of Mike McMichael, veteran forward, who played his first full game of the year against Michigan. An ankle injury received in a touch football game last fall had kept him on the sidelines.

McMichael has been the team's leading scorer for the last two years during which time he placed second among conference scorers. He is regarded as one of the best long range shooters in the conference as well as being a capable ball handler. With McMichael on hand, the Wildcats have a strong front line combination consisting of Capt. Fred Trenkle, forward, and Jake Nagode, center. This trio is augmented by Jean Smith who shares a forward position with McMichael.

ASSIGN 132 LBS. TO SEABISCUIT FOR $5,000 STAKE

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Weights for the $5,000 San Pasqual handicap at Santa Anita park Saturday, released tonight, listed Charles S. Howard's Seabiscuit at 132 pounds.

Howard has said he would not send his handicap champion to the post with more than the 130 pounds assigned for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap March 5.

Ligaroti, crack Argentine candidate for the $100,000 race, got second high weight of 126.

Pompoon, Jerome Louchheim's 4 year old, seemed to be the brightest possibility among the horses entered. He was assigned 124, along with Aneroid.

Ed Janss' Boxthorn rounded out the top weighted eligibles at 120.

MODEST QUEEN away fast and clear of all interference, drew out in stretch, winning nicely in hand. SPIN ON ran a very game race. She was badly interfered with at the furlong pole, but held on gamely. SPANISH MAMMON also had a very rough trip. She was bothered all through stretch by KATE SMITH swerving in toward the inside rail. KATE SMITH was tiring at end after swerving badly. CRITT is sure to improve.

TUTTICURIO was hustled away from the gate and, showing excellent speed, held on gamely. CROWNING GLORY was ridden from behind and took lead entering stretch and made a game effort. ESPINACA was kept out in middle of track all the way.

BOMAR was hustled into lead going into first turn and rated along to stretch, where he tired and had to be ridden briskly to stall off the determined bid of A. O'CONNELL. Latter was unprepared to start and, after a slow field, saved ground in early part, was taken to outside entering stretch and, finishing fast, was wearing winner down. JIM JOHN well up all the way.

Maroon and Gopher Fives Meet Saturday

Three University of Chicago athletic teams will compete this week, one at home and two away. The basketball and wrestling squads will be on the road, while the fencing team, Big Ten champion, will meet the Rantoul Army Air corps on the Midway.

The wrestling team, already victor over Wheaton, Purdue, and Northwestern, will travel to De Kalb tomorrow for a meet with the Northern Illinois Teachers. Coach Spyros Vorres plans to use his second team in the meet. The Maroon wrestlers have lost only one meet this season, that to Ohio State by a 14 to 12 score.

The University of Chicago basketball team will appear in Minneapolis against the University of Minnesota Saturday night. It will be seeking its first conference victory of the season. The squad will be strengthened by the return of Bob Cassels, who was injured in December.

Maroon swordsmen will face a difficult task at Bartlett gymnasium Saturday afternoon when they tackle the Rantoul Army Air corps in a fencing meet.

Plea to Reduce Poughkeepsie Race Refused

New York, Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Monday, June 27, was set today as the date of the annual Intercollegiate Rowing association races on the Hudson river at Poughkeepsie. The association stewards also announced that they had rejected a proposal to reduce the race from four to three miles. Confirmation of the date rests with member colleges, and the starting times of the races, beginning with the freshmen test, which is scheduled for 2:45 p. m., depend upon the tides.

The recommendation for reduction of the distance was presented for all of the members of the association by the University of Pennsylvania. Stewards explained their rejection of the plan with four reasons. First, that the four mile distance is a better test of rowing strength. Second, that there is no exceptional strain on the crews at that distance. Third, that four miles is the distance of such classics as the Oxford-Cambridge and Yale-Harvard races, and fourth, that the Poughkeepsie race, best known of American rowing competitions, would lose much of its tradition and color if trimmed to three miles.

Women Skate for State Title on Aurora Ice

Because Eleanor Thiel Dyer, the defending Illinois women's speed skating champion, will compete in the North American indoor meet at Minneapolis, a new champion will be crowned in the Aurora meet Sunday.

Who the winner will be may be indicated Saturday afternoon at Glen Ellyn, where all championship contenders will compete. Leading the Chicago women's group is Shirley Jameson of the Northwest Skating club, an Illinois co-ed. Miss Jameson is a favorite in the national meet, to be held a week from Saturday and Sunday at Petoskey, Mich. Elaine Bogda, also of Northwest, likewise is entered.

Two sisters, Helen and Genevieve Swierkos, promise to furnish most opposition to the Misses Jameson and Bogda. Helen skates for the C. Y. O. and Genevieve for the Olympic club. Thus they are rivals for team as well as individual honors. Genevieve won THE TRIBUNE'S Silver Skates championship ten days ago.

Eddie Schroeder of the Northwest club, men's state champion, will compete Saturday as a final warmup for the Illinois meet at Aurora. Chief among his challengers are Tony Neberz of the C. Y. O., Bob Sherman, Schroeder's teammate, and Ray Doersam of the Olympic club.

DE PAUL SQUAD IS EXCUSED FOR EXAMINATIONS

Coach Tom Haggerty has excused his De Paul university basketball players for the rest of the week during semester examinations. De Paul plays Western State Teachers college of Kalamazoo, Mich., on the north side Saturday night.

Bob Neu, slender guard, continues to lead the team in scoring. Ed Norris, a sophomore, is finding the range as is Carl Tollstom, another first year man.

Buhler and Audy Are Paired for Coliseum Grind

Six of the thirteen teams which will compete in the six day bicycle race starting Sunday night in the Coliseum were announced yesterday by Manager George Harvey.

New pairings bring together Jules Audy and Ernst Buhler, riding as the Canadian team; Piet Van Kempen and Gottfried Huertgen, the Dutch team, and Cecil Yates and Fred Ottevaere, who will wear the green of Ireland.

Teams announced previously were Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel, Germans; Jimmy Walthour and Al Crossley, Americans, and Henri LePage and Fernand Wambst, French.

Jakie Gruber will pedal on the Jewish team with a mate yet to be selected. Mickey Rodak of Chicago, will wear the red eagle of Poland and may pair with Willie Korsmeier, also of Polish ancestry.

Freddy Zach, Reggie Fielding, Harold McNauwens, Dominik Camastro, and Tom Saetta still are unpaired. The last two are Italians and may ride together.

Fifty carpenters have been working on the track for days. The pine oval, ten laps of which will make a mile, is taking form, but will keep the men busy until near starting time.

PLAN RITES FOR CUBS' FORMER CONCESSIONAIRE

Funeral services will be held today for Fred N. Chamberlain, former concessionaire at Wrigley field and the Cubs' old West Side park, who died Monday. Chamberlain retired after the 1926 season, the club taking over his interests. Thereafter the concession was managed by John Q. Seys, Cub vice president who succumbed Sunday night to pneumonia and for whom services were conducted yesterday in the chapel at 5501 North Ashland avenue. The Chamberlain services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at 124 West Madison street, Oak Park.

OXFORD TO SPELL AGAINSTHARVARD IN RADIO CONTEST

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

This spelling bee business in broadcasting circles is really spreading. Paul Wing, NBC spelling master, next Sunday is dragging the British into it. Eight bright boys and girls from Oxford, will match their accents against those of Harvard lads and Radcliffe lassies. Broadcast is set for 11 a. m.

The Oxonians will line up in BBC studios in London, the Americans at WBZ, Boston. A two way hookup will enable students on both sides of the Atlantic to hear all the proceedings. The public may listen in, too, though there is no promise that they will understand the heavy accent of the collegians.

To eliminate any possibility of misunderstanding among the participants, the British announcer will repeat each word, in his fashion, after the American announcer has given it. The American spellers will conform to Webster, the British will stand or fall by Oxford's own dictionary.

As a curtain raiser for this match, NBC will air a spelling match at 7:30 p. m., Saturday, between Boston newspaper editors and copyreaders, and composing room proofreaders!

When the True or False program is aired from W-G-N studios next Monday evening, six La Salle street Board of Trade men will match their wits against six Chicago air line hostesses.

New faces at WHIP, the new Hammond station, include Hal Makelim, who has been named commercial manager; Bob Kaufman, who is assistant to the president in charge of program trafic, and Reinhardt Elster, musical director.

CHARLES AGNEW, FORMER HARBOR MASTER, IS DEAD

Charles J. Agnew, who had been harbor master of Chicago, lieutenant of detectives and alderman of the old 21st ward, died yesterday in Alexian Brothers hospital. He was 69 years old.

Mr. Agnew joined the Chicago police department in 1897 as an operator and later became secretary to Chief Herman F. Schuettler. In 1918 he was made lieutenant and retired a year later. In 1920 he was elected alderman of the old 21st ward, now the 42d, and served three terms. While alderman, his home at 40 East Elm street was bombed.

Mr. Agnew is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Hogan Agnew, and a son, Edward.

THURMAN HARSHMAN, CITY NEWS BUREAU NIGHT EDITOR, DIES

Thurman Harshman.

Thurman Harshman, night editor of the City News bureau, died last night of a heart ailment in St. Bernard's hospital. He was 62 years old and lived at 6813 Clyde avenue.

To hundreds of newspapermen in Chicago and elsewhere his death came as a personal loss. He was known to them affectionately as Mr. H., although he was regarded as a stern taskmaster. His insistence on accuracy proved a solid groundwork for their later work.

Mr. Harshman was born in Union City, O. After service in the Spanish-American war he entered newspaper work in Canton, O., later coming to Chicago, where in 1902 he joined the City News bureau. In 1912 he was appointed night city editor.

He is survived by his widow, Catherine Harshman, and a daughter, Nancy, a student at the University of Illinois.

MAYER SEEKS NEW INDUSTRIES FOR CHICAGO

Takes Trade Group Helm; Tells Plans.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

A drive to bring new industries to Chicago to maintain diversification, support for elevated highways and other safety measures to curb the automobile massacre, and efforts to clean up the blighted areas near the downtown district are important points in the 1938 program of the Chicago Association of Commerce, Oscar G. Mayer, newly elected president, said yesterday in his inaugural address at the Palmer house.

Oscar G. Mayer.

Staf Is Enlarged.

Mayer said the association's industrial development staf has been enlarged and important companies all over the country will be visited by representatives to acquaint them with the advantages of Chicago as a place for their factories or branches.

Mayer stressed Chicago's transportation advantages, its proximity to raw materials, and the city's freedom from the bitter industrial strife that has occurred in other cities. He attributed the favorable labor conditions here to "sensible" labor leadership and law enforcement.

Two vital needs in the city's industrial and civic development, he said, are the revision of the building code and a general rezoning of the city. Eight amendments to the code already approved have reduced the cost of industrial buildings about 15 per cent from the cost under the old code, he said.

Urges Further Reduction.

"This should materially aid in bringing industries to Chicago; the more if material men and labor will aid further in bringing costs down," he added.

In urging rezoning in certain areas Mayer said action is imperative for the rehabilitation of the large blighted areas and for the rejuvenation of Chicago as an industrial and residential city.

Mayer suggested as a possible solution for the problem encouragement to the resettlement of these areas through rezoning for light industry and modest residential occupancy.

With respect to what he called the appalling death toll from automobile accidents Mayer urged as one corrective measure the enactment of a driver's license bill to get rid of unfit motorists.

"There can be no question that driving hazards can be greatly reduced through the construction of elevated superhighways and other safety means," he said. "It is the sacred duty of our nation to pledge an end to this annual sacrifice, and the purpose of the association to contribute its utmost to this end."

Cites Other Problems.

Other points in the association's program, Mayer said, include the following:

Passage of the Pettengill long and short haul bill in the interest of Chicago shippers and the railroads.

PALMER ORDERS FIRE INSURANCE RATES REDUCED

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Ernest Palmer, state director of insurance, today issued revised schedules and rates on fire insurance effective March 1, which he estimated would lower policy costs in the state $1,500,000 annually.

Palmer said the principal reductions would affect the rates in protected localities on dwellings and apartments and their contents and on dwelling and store buildings and the dwelling contents of such buildings.

A more favorable loss experience which has prevailed recently justified the reduction order, the director said. He added that the breaking up of arson rings in various parts of the state has been a factor in keeping down fire losses in recent years.

Richard Wagner was elected president of the Chicago corporation yesterday to succeed Charles F. Glore who was named chairman of the executive committee. Wagner, vice president of the investing company since 1930 was also elected to the board of directors, filling the vacancy resulting from the death of James O. McKinsey. The shift, Glore said, was made because it was believed that the president of the company should devote all his time to the corporation. Glore is senior partner of Glore, Forgan & Co. and has divided his time between the two companies. The shift means no change in policy by the investing company, he said.

Bills of Exchange.

A "negotiable instrument" is a form of commercial paper that may be passed from hand to hand without destroying its negotiability—that is, it may be presented for payment in money.

The most common form of negotiable instrument is the check. Another used frequently in business transactions, however, is the bill of exchange.

A bill of exchange, which is similar to a check, is a written order signed by an individual or company directing the person to whom it is addressed to pay on demand or at a fixed time a certain sum of money to the bearer of the bill, or to the order of a particular person.

One of the chief differences between checks and bills of exchange is that, whereas the check is an order drawn on a bank, a bill of exchange is usually an order on an individual or a corporation other than a bank. Another difference is that a bill of exchange may order payment at a certain time in the future or on demand, whereas a check simply orders payment on demand.

Retail Stores Reduce Prices of Fresh Eggs

The retail price of eggs has declined in recent weeks as a result of the break in prices at the Chicago Mercantile exchange and other markets where eggs are traded in large quantities, dealers said yesterday.

A leading grocery chain yesterday was selling at 32 cents a dozen top grade fresh eggs that were bringing 33 cents a dozen Monday and 34 cents early this month. Another chain had reduced to 29 cents a dozen the same fresh eggs that on Jan. 20 sold for 33 cents and on Jan. 3 for 35 cents.

A third chain was quoting 33 cents for eggs that on Jan. 20 sold at 35 cents and on Jan. 3 for 37 cents. Lower grades of fresh eggs and various grades of storage eggs have also been reduced, the dealers said.

Slump Again on Exchange.

Prices of fresh eggs slumped ¼ to ¾ cent a dozen in the cash market of the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, carrying prices to the lowest January levels in four years. Wholesalers, jobbers, and large distributors buy at the Mercantile exchange. They in turn sell to retailers. Eggs bought by chain store buyers are distributed through their own stores.

Extra firsts, one of the best grades of fresh eggs, yesterday sold on the exchange at 18¾ to 19 cents a dozen, compared with 24½ cents a dozen at the start of this month and 22½ to 23 cents a year ago. Fresh firsts, a less desirable quality, sold at 18¼ to 18½ cents, against 23½ cents early this month and 22½ to 22¾ cents a year ago.

Storage Eggs Down.

Contracts calling for storage eggs to be delivered this month fell 1½ cents a dozen to 15¼ cents yesterday. Traders explained, however, that the recession in the price of storage eggs has only a moderate effect on retail prices because the season for storage eggs is nearly closed. Chain stores and other large distributors quit selling storage eggs about this time of year. Other contracts calling for future delivery of fresh and storage eggs declined only ¼ cent a dozen.

Receipts of fresh eggs have been unusually heavy for this time of year due to recent mild weather, causing hens to lay more.

WHEAT PRICES FALL SHARPLY; MAY WEAKEST

Weakness in securities and foreign markets had a depressing effect on grains yesterday. Wheat prices declined 2¼ to 2½ cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade, and losses in corn ranged up to 1 cent. May wheat touched 93⅛ cents, the lowest price quoted for that delivery since Jan. 6, and 5¾ cents under the recent high mark.

Decline in corn futures, according to brokers, was in sympathy with wheat, and a break of more than 1 cent in Buenos Aires.

Margin requirements on speculative trades in corn futures will be reduced to 3 cents a bushel to members of the clearing house corporation of the Chicago Board of Trade, effective today and the lowest since 1933. The present margin requirement is 4 cents a bushel.

PLAN TO REVAMP CHICAGO STOCK MARKET VOTED

Governors Approve Salaried Staf.

A reorganization of the Chicago Stock exchange, placing in the hands of a salaried personnel the responsibility for administration of the exchange and providing for the enlistment of outsiders to serve on a new advisory committee, was approved yesterday by the governing committee.

Thaddeus Benson, president Chicago exchange.

The program is expected to set a pattern for other exchanges, including the New York Stock exchange, which now are considering reorganization. The plan incorporates several of the recommendations made to the New York exchange by the Securities and Exchange commission.

Subject to Member Vote.

The program, requiring a revision of the constitution of the exchange, will be voted on by the membership. It is the result of a four month survey of the exchange organization by an independent firm of business consultants retained on the recommendation of Thaddeus R. Benson, exchange president.

The major provisions of the program are:

1. Supervision of the management of the exchange by a board of governors, including a chairman and a treasurer. Governors to be elected by members for three year terms, the chairman and treasurer for one year terms.

2. Creation of an advisory committee representing the public and corporations whose securities are listed on the exchange.

3. Abolishment of the present unwieldy system of membership committees which supervise various functions of the exchange, and substitution of four standing committees for the fourteen now functioning.

Plan Salary for President.

4. Placing of administration and organization work in the hands of a salaried personnel consisting of a president named by the governors, two assistants, and a secretary and office manager.

The president of the exchange will be a salaried officer, reporting directly to governors. At the present time the president is elected by the members and serves without compensation. The administrative staf now consists of an assistant to the president, a secretary, and three assistant secretaries.

The changes recommended will result in a saving in the operating expenses of $35,000 a year, President Benson said.

Selection of the new officers will not be made until the program has been voted on by members. No date for the election has been set. Sidney L. Parry, assistant to the president, and Jess Halsted, secretary, are the chief administrative officials in the present setup.

The governing committee also adopted recommendations for a general revision of the present system of executing orders on the floor. The changes provide:

1. Reappointment of specialists for various securities.

2. Service charge on orders executed by specialists for other members.

3. Reclassification of the securities to determine the unit of trading to be fixed for each. Establishment of 100 shares as the unit for listed shares that are also traded on the New York Stock exchange.

EXPECT NEW YORK PLAN TODAY.

New York, Jan. 26.—[Special.]—The committee for the study of the organization and administration of the New York Stock exchange nearly completed the final draft of its report today. The members of the body are reported in substantial agreement on all major points and the report is expected to be sent to the stock exchange tomorrow.

Roosevelt Wage Statement Causes Severe Market Break

BY HOWARD WOOD.

In markets already demoralized by news of reduced corporation earnings and dividend omissions, plus the discouragement of continued government spending and an unrelieved and growing burden of taxes, President Roosevelt's Tuesday night pronouncement on wages and prices yesterday resulted in additional waves of heavy selling.

Brokers' letters last night were practically unanimous in attributing the break in the markets to the President's statement that manufacturers must keep wages up and put prices down. That statement was the chief topic of conversation yesterday, not only among brokers and bond dealers but among their customers, who throughout the day besieged La Salle street offices with such questions as "What are we going to do with our money now?"

Many Happenings Bearish.

Back of this development—hardly anticipated by the financial community during the present seemingly coöperative conferences between business men and administration leaders in Washington—were a series of happenings the accumulative effect of which has been decidedly bearish.

The latest wave of discouragement began with the Erie railroad's falling into bankruptcy. This event pointed out the serious situation in which the railroads find themselves. Stocks and bonds of other railroads have been sliding downward since the Erie was forced into the wringer.

Corporation earnings reports for the fourth quarter—now coming out—have been another bearish factor. Poorer earnings were expected but their daily appearance has served as a constant reminder of the business slump.

Tax Boomerang Is Felt.

The boomerang results of the undistributed profits tax also are suddenly beginning to be felt. Almost every day several important companies which had been paying substantial amounts in dividends announce the omission of payments. The discovery is being made—belatedly—that the administration's undistributed profits tax is acting as a powerful influence toward widening the spread between the peaks and valleys of the business cycle. Having been forced to pay out all their current earnings in dividends when times were good business concerns, in order to protect their financial position, are finding it necessary to stop payments immediately when they cease to operate profitably.

Along La Salle street the belief is beginning to be expressed that the administration has boxed itself into a position where it must shortly resort to some sort of additional inflation in an attempt to save its face.

Discus Possible Effect.

Staf meetings are already being held in financial offices to discuss what may be the effect of a sudden decision by the administration to exercise the power to debase the dollar from the present 59.06 per cent to 50 per cent of its former gold value. That would mean a reduction of approximately 15⅛ per cent from the present gold value. The accompanying "profit" on the treasury's gold reserves of nearly 12 billion 800 million dollars would be about 2 billion dollars. The reasoning is that the spending of this much more pump priming money—politically timed—would create another temporary bulge in business activity to ease the administration over the next election. In addition, there remains 1 billion 800 million dollars of the "profit" of the 1933-'34 dollar debasement program.

Such surmises are still being made only in private conversations, but some of the brokers' letters last night skirted the edges of the subject by mentioning the possibility of further inflationary moves.

Means Spending Campaign.

"In his prepared statement to the press opposing wage reductions," the Paine, Webber & Co. letter said, "President Roosevelt threatened to 'consider other means of creating purchasing power' if industries reduce wages this winter and next spring. That apparently means only one thing, that the administration will embark upon a new large scale spending campaign if purchasing power—that is, wage payments—are lowered. Twice in his statement he referred to the present economic situation as a short term affair."

"The President's statement," said the Shields & Co. letter, "carried even more direct threat that if business did not pick up government spending would be resorted to in a big way. The inflationary aspects of such a program have no influence due to the expectation that the effect of such pump priming would be less than in the past and the inevitable collapse even more disastrous."

NEW YORK CITY FIGHTS COAL PRICE MINIMUM

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—Authorized increases in the price of bituminous coal will add nearly a million dollars a year to the cost of the government of New York City, Mayor La Guardia told the bituminous coal commission in a petition filed today asking for suspension of the minimum prices approved by the commission.

The petition said that increased prices for coal used by the Interborough Rapid Transit company would amount to $250,000 extra annually, and the Brooklyn Manhattan Transit would have to pay an extra $150,000 a year. Increase to bituminous consumers other than the city will be many millions, it was said.

The petition charged that the minimum prices were approved without public hearings, and that New York City had been deceived "because no public hearings had been held."

STOCKS CRASH IN HEAVY WAVE OF LIQUIDATION

Net Losses Range Up to 8 Points.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 26.—Engulfed by an almost continuous wave of liquidation, quotations on leading shares dropped $1 to $4 today and more volatile and several preferred issues slumped as much as $8.

Although the bulk of the selling was crowded into the first two hours, when 1,070,000 shares were traded, pressure against the majority of stocks continued until the close. Some drying up of the selling in the closing stage enabled a number of issues to rise somewhat from their lows. Turnover for the day was 1,616,330 shares.

All sections of the market participated in the break. The Dow-Jones railroad and utility averages both dropped to new lows for the year or longer. The railroad average slumped to 28.31, off 1.03. Its previous low was 29.17, on Jan. 5. The utility average dropped 0.66 to 19.80, against a previous low of 20.46, on Jan. 3.

Industrial Average Falls.

The industrial average, although dropping sharply, was well above its low level. Composed of thirty representative issues, the group closed 5.10 lower at 123.23. The low for the year was 120.57, registered on Jan. 3. A total of 895 issues was traded. Of these 797 closed lower, 35 higher, and 63 were unchanged.

The chief reason for the heavy liquidation, according to most observers, was the assertion by President Roosevelt yesterday that he was "unequivocally" opposed to any wage reductions. This was held contrary to the opinion of many in Wall street that lower prices are necessary and that this result cannot be attained with current wage levels maintained.

Dumped in Big Lots.

Stocks recently bought in the hope they would benefit from a truce between business men and the administration were dumped overboard despite rather large losses and in heavy amounts. Floor crews were swamped with heavy offerings at the opening gong and numerous blocks of stocks, ranging from 1,000 to 6,000 shares, were sold in the first few minutes.

In some instances specialists had difficulty in arranging opening prices. Chrysler was one of these, finally opening at 55 on an initial block of 6,000 shares. The issue then proved to be the most actively supplied of the day and closed at 53½, off 4 points net. Other motors dropped as much as 1⅞.

U. S. Steel common opened on a 5,000 share lot at 55½, a fall of 2 points, then gave up another 1½ points before meeting support. It closed 2¾ points lower. Bethlehem, off 3; Youngstown, down 2; Crucible, off 3¼, and Republic, off 1¾, were others hard hit in the steel division.

Railroad shares hovered around their lows for the year, with some substantial declines shaking the group out of its recent fractional range. Losses of 1 to nearly 3 points were recorded by Santa Fe, Chesapeake and Ohio, and Union Pacific.

Public utility issues were put under pressure. Selling in Consolidated Edison, Electric Power and Light, and American Water Works drove each more than 1 point lower.

Coppers were forced into lower territory with other industrials. American Smelting, off 3½; Anaconda, off 2; International Nickel, off 1⅝, and Kennecott Copper, off 2, were active trading mediums.

Favorite aviation issues lost up to 2 points or more, with Douglas leading. That stock dropped to 39⅞ for a loss of 2⅝ points. Wright Aero slumped 7½ points.

New York Bonds.

New York, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The bond market broke badly today, recording losses of from 1 to 8 or more points among secondary rails as shares on the stock exchange turned downward in the sharpest decline this year.

Although biggest losses were among rail bonds, prices buckled in all divisions. The Associated Press average of 20 rail issues fell a full point to the lowest level since May, 1933; the utility average 0.8 to the lowest since April 8, 1935, and the industrial average 0.4.

Most United States government obligations were lower, with losses ranging to 8-32s of a point.

Chicago Stocks.

Stock prices retreated at the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday under heavy offerings. Quotations on trading favorites dropped from fractions to more than $2 a share.

Of the 117 issues traded, 82 declined, only nine finished with gains, and 26 held unchanged. Volume picked up to 40,000 shares, compared with 23,000 shares traded Tuesday. The Tribune average of 20 stocks closed at 9.50, off 0.61.

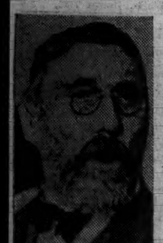
PRES. ROOSEVELT IS GIVEN REFUND IN INCOME TAX

$32,253,803 Returned to Taxpayers in Year.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—[Special.]—A tax payer listed as "Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt" of Washington received a refund of $1,029.32 last year from the bureau of internal revenue for overpayment of income taxes, according to a report today which showed refunds totaling $32,253,803 to thousands of individuals and firms in the year ended June 30.



Arthur Curtiss James gets $1,468,100 tax refund.

Refunds on Many Taxes.

The report was made public through the office of Chairman Cochran of the house committee on expenditures in the executive departments. It covered refunds on a variety of taxes which had been paid in the last several years. Only those amounts in excess of $500 were shown.

The largest single check, for $1,458,100, went to Arthur Curtiss James, New York industrialist and financier. The Equitable Life Assurance of New York got two which totaled $1,316,939. The only other refund in the million dollar class was $1,126,641 to the American Gas and Electric company and affiliated companies.

Cochran said the treasury had granted tax credits and abatements of $170,442,611 in the last fiscal year. Offsetting these and the refunds, he said, were $399,448,703 of additional assessments that resulted from office audits and field investigations.

Wilson & Co. Tops List.

Among the largest tax refunds to Chicago individuals or to the estates of deceased persons were the awards of $35,598 to the Albert H. Williams trust number 6847 for Albert D. Williams, and $5,215 to the Albert H. Williams trust number 20996 for Barbara Carolyn Burch on income tax claims.

The Frank S. Kohlhase estate, Oak Park, received a refund of $20,483, and the William A. Gilchrist estate $5,562 on income taxes. The Robert M. Roloson estate drew $10,975. Alfred Coukes received an income tax refund of $12,813.

Pullman, Inc.

—Miss C. F.

Answer: Pullman, Inc., is a holding company. Its principal subsidiaries are the Pullman company, which operates sleeping car and other types of special passenger cars, and the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company, the largest manufacturer of railroad cars in the United States.

The Pullman company owns more than 8,000 sleeping or parlor cars, and the number in operation at any one time generally ranges between 5,000 and 6,000. Most of the cars have been air conditioned. Service is maintained in Canada and Mexico as well as in the United States.

Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company does a world-wide business. Its fourteen plants now operating have an annual capacity of about 113,300 freight cars, 3,150 passenger cars, 540,000 car wheels, and 60,000 tons of forgings. Twelve of the plants are located in the United States, one is in Brazil, and another is in France.

In the first eleven months of 1937 the Pullman company had net income after taxes of $5,408,841, against $3,673,553 in the same 1936 period.

The Pullman company has applied to the interstate commerce commission for permission to increase sleeping and parlor car charges 10 per cent. The increases are needed, the company said, to offset higher expenses.

Uncertainties in the railroad outlook resulted in a recession in orders received by Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company after a sharp upturn in business during 1936 and early 1937.

Pullman, Inc., reported net income for nine months ended Sept. 30 of $10,561,872, or $2.75 a capital share, compared with $5,219,929, or $1.37 a share, in the corresponding months of 1936. Earnings in recent years:

Dividends at the rate of $1.50 annually are being paid. An extra dividend of $1.25 a share was paid in 1937. There is no funded debt.
